Eisenhower Hopes Both Get Chance

General Would Have Foreign Policy Plank Acceptable to Taft, Himself

Hits Isolationism

Taft Is Placed Among Major Stay-at-Homes in Ike's Speech

Denver, June 24 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today "I fervently hope" that a foreign policy plank can be written into the Republican platform which would be acceptable both to him and to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The general told an early morning news conference: "I don't want to see a bitter convention fight over this point."

This statement came after Eisenhower had patched his campaign on a peace or war issue with Taft. He had grouped Taft among the nation's isolationists in a major foreign policy speech last night. A reporter asked if he was "trying to put Taft on the defensive" in the final stages of the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Must Preach Truth

Eisenhower replied, "no, no. I just believe that someone must preach the truth about these things."

In reply to another question he made it clear he believes that Taft is among those who would "sit at home with an air force to be dispatched into the wild blue yonder" as America's major defense line.

He outlined his own peace and world security program in this way:

1. . . . Convince the world that America has a sincere devotion to peace and will not consider proposals for a "preventive war."

2. . . . Support the United Nations, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and other security agreements as instruments for peace.

3. . . . Pursue a positive foreign program, rather than a "hand to mouth" operation, which will line-up the allies against the enslavement of any nation.

4. . . . Build up spiritual and military strength which will convince the Russian leaders they must accept a "just and practical plan" of world disarmament.

Leaves No Doubt

In firm command of his own campaign, Eisenhower left no doubt he classed Taft among the isolationists and that he believed a "retreat into isolationism" would leave the United States "encircled by a savage wolf pack" of communism.

Today the general called a news conference (10:30 AES) to enlarge on his views. Later he was to meet with GOP National Convention delegates from Louisiana, where Taft-Eisenhower forces are disputing the manner in which delegates were elected to the national convention in Chicago next month.

The general didn't name Taft directly but his remarks were billed by Sen. Carlson (R.-Kan.), an advisor, as revealing a wide foreign policy chasm between the two Republican candidates. And Eisenhower gave his approval to this billing.

Coupled with the fact that Eisenhower recently (in private) called Taft an isolationist, he made it clear he was shooting at Taft when he said:

"Those who assert that America can retire within its own borders; those who seem to think we have little or no stake in the rest of the world and what happens to it; those who act as 'though we had no need for friends to share in the defense of freedom'—those persons are ignorant or irresponsible.

Teamed Against Reds in Biggest Raid

Navy aircraft from U.S. carriers Princeton (top), Boxer (center) and Philippine Sea (bottom) teamed up with Air Force and Marine planes to knock out five major Communist hydro-electric plants in biggest air raid of the Korean war. Plants kayoed included world's fourth largest hydro-electric plant at Suiho, about 30 miles up the Yalu river from Red MIG base at Antung, two generating stations at Changjin Reservoir and two other plants on Songchon river in eastern North Korea.

Bruhn Says Homicide Is Suspected

Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, Was Unable to Give Police Details of What Happened

Guard Is Kept

Samuel Schifano, 62, Is Under Constant Surveillance

Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, died at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie between 5:15 and 5:30 p. m. Monday and the injured man who was found with her in her Highland area apartment is being held on suspicion of homicide, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn reported today.

Troopers following up an anonymous telephone call on Friday discovered Mrs. Nusca and Samuel Schifano, of New York, both suffering from serious cuts and slashes, in Mrs. Nusca's first floor apartment on Route 44-55 three miles west of Highland.

Both were taken to the Poughkeepsie hospital.

Mrs. Nusca's death Monday afternoon came before she was able to give state police any information.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy was performed by a Dutchess county assistant medical examiner with a Dr. Sweeney, who had been in attendance while Mrs. Nusca remained in critical condition at the hospital. Autopsy findings had not been reported by this morning.

A continuous guard was being maintained today over Schifano, who has been reported as "slightly improved" at St. Francis Hospital. At first held on an assault charge, the charge was changed to one of homicide following Mrs. Nusca's death, and pending further results of an investigation by authorities.

The guard is being provided by members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Will Have Counsel

Schifano, whose correct age is now believed to be 62, will be represented by Attorney Gittleson, a state senator, of 26 Court street, Brooklyn, according to a communication by the district attorney from Senator Gittleson.

State police who entered Mrs. Nusca's apartment on Friday shortly before noon reported they found a hatchet and a butcher knife near the injured man and woman. She suffered a deep scalp laceration which penetrated the skull and the severance of several fingers, and Schifano suffered cuts in his chest near the heart, troopers reported.

It has been established that Mrs. Nusa was a widow, and had four daughters and one son, all grown and not living with her.

Education Board Has Meeting; Will Organize July 1

Leehive, Fowler Attend Final Sessions of Terms—Routine Business

With two members attending the last session of their term, the Board of Education held an adjourned meeting Monday evening to clear up last minute business of the 1951-52 school year and then adjourned to meet on July 1 at 7:30 for organization and election of officers for the ensuing year. There will be a regular meeting of the board at 8 o'clock that evening following the organization.

Trustees William F. Leehive and N. Jansen Fowler, whose terms expire June 30, expressed their pleasure for having been permitted to serve the people of the city on the board. Both said they had enjoyed the work and considered it a privilege and pleasure to have served and they expressed their hopes that the board would "continue its progressive way" in the educational program of the city. Trustee Fowler said he would miss the associations and stated he had received a wider insight on public education and had "received more out than I put in it" while serving on the board.

Both Are Complimented

President Rowland complimented both on their interest in the school program and thanked them for their services.

The salary schedule, which is $300 over the state minimum standard, was filed for the record.

A schedule of salaries for Civil Service Employes, adopted June 23, were also filed.

In connection with a salary schedule, a report was received from the Advisory Committee on Promotional Increments. This is a committee named from the teaching staff to recommend to the board a set of rules or standards to be applied in connection with the thirteenth and sixteenth increments as required by state law.

Report Not Satisfactory

The report received from the committee was not satisfactory to the board since it did not contain any recommendation of standards to be met by the teachers in order to qualify for the last two promotional steps on the salary schedule. Trustee Baltz for the Teachers Committee of the Board, stated that his committee was not prepared to make a report to the Board since the advisory committee, which is composed of one teacher from each of the schools, had presented no specific rules or regulations under which the thirteenth and sixteenth promotional increments could be granted. He suggested the matter be given further study and a report given later.

It was stated that the Advisory Committee, under the state law, was required to set up a standard of conduct which must be met by the teachers in order to qualify for the last two step promotions. Those who meet the required standard will get two increments and those teachers who fail to meet the requirements would not be granted the increments. It is designed to eliminate any incompetent teacher from these last two promotions until they have met the standards set by their fellow teachers.

On motion of Trustee Baltz the communication from the Advisory Committee was received with the comment that the Board of Education does not approve it and directs that the Advisory Commit-

Scheidt said two others, Roy Fred Dennis Pursselley, 34, of 126 Riverside Drive, New York, and William T. Kerrigan, 34, resident of a midtown hotel in New York, had been arrested on charges that they allegedly transported stolen cars interstate.

It is charged, the agent said, that Will, an auto mechanic and dealer in used cars at Port Ewen, had received and disposed of a stolen car.

Russell Says He'd Seize Steel Firms

Calls Defense Program Important; Stocks Are Tied Up

Phoenix, Ariz., June 24 (AP)—Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.), candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, last night advocated government seizure of the strike-bound steel industry under authority of the 1940 Selective Service Act.

Russell, who arrived here by private plane for a round of political appearances today, said seizure would be legal under a provision of the law dealing with industries involved in defense production.

President Truman's seizure of the steel mills was ruled illegal by the Supreme Court on June 2. Immediately, 650,000 CIO steel workers struck. Truman has asked Congress to empower him with seizure authority, but has been told to use the Taft-Hartley Labor Act to end the strike.

Must Push Arms

Sen. Russell stressed the importance of the defense program.

"The American people have got to push this arms program," he asserted. "It's the main issue before the country."

The Georgia lawmaker, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee also said in an interview with the Arizona Republic that he would get at least 300 votes on the first ballot at the Democratic national convention and would pick up strength on later counts. It takes 616 to nominate.

Stocks Tied Up

Pittsburgh, June 24 (AP)—The first trickle of the defense materials promised to the U. S. government by the CIO United Steelworkers in their 23-day-old strike began flowing today.

Curiously enough, the materials were not steel at all—but lumnite cement—used to make jet engine testing cells.

Taft Would Bomb Manchuria Bases In Korean Fight

Says Hydro-Electric Hits by UN Planes No Reason to Fear World War 3

Hershey, Pa., June 24 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio said today he does not believe the bombing of the Communist hydro-electric plants in Korea will lead to a third World War.

"We should have done it long ago," he added.

Taft told a news conference he still believes that Manchurian bases of the Red armies in China can be attacked directly.

The Senator came to this Pennsylvania resort town for a meeting with Gov. John S. Fine and a majority of the state's strategically placed 70 delegates to the GOP national convention.

Covers Wide Range

Taft covered a wide range of subjects in his morning news conference. He said:

1. The statement by Philip Murray, CIO president that the Taft-Hartley Act would not produce steel is an "outrageous" one "if it is an indication of an intention to defy the courts of the United States."

2. The Truman administration is using public money to "put out propaganda about the wonderful things they're doing." He named the Department of Agriculture specifically.

3. Discussing the Texas delegation dispute, he said he made an explanation of his backers' action in a closed session with the Maryland delegation last night.

Will See Delegates

4. Talking about next month's national convention in Chicago, Taft repeated a statement from yesterday that "questions of strategy" will determine whether he attempts to win the nomination on the first ballot. He said plans will be laid down after consultation with the delegates and an appraisal of his strength.

5. After an hour-long conference with Fine, Taft said he had "a very pleasant discussion with Governor Fine," and that it "ranged the whole field of national and international affairs and Republican politics."

After the talk, Fine came to the new conference and posed smilingly for pictures, but did not respond to calls from newsmen:

"Governor, have you made up your mind?"

Claims Half

Asked what was his present estimate of his national delegate strength, Taft said he thought he had "about half of the delegate strength" and added a few moments later that he thought that estimate "very conservative."

He said he had always figured on a minimum of 20 votes from Pennsylvania and added that he did not think that estimate "is too conservative until Governor Fine acts."

A reporter inquired whether Taft counts the vote of National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett in his total of 20. Taft replied that "we have generally considered him friendly." He then added, however, that he thinks he should not discuss personally who in the Pennsylvania delegation supports him.

Resents 'Smear'

Taft said again he resents the "smear campaign currently being made by some people against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He expressed the opinion the campaign is coming from individuals and that it certainly is not organized nor generally financed.

He said the people joining in this campaign "seem to me to be slightly off the beam."

Stalemate War Is Now 2 Years Old

UN Casualties Are 419,456 Including 109,971 American Men

Seoul, Korea, June 24 (AP)—Russian-built tanks rumbled southwar across Parallel 38 in the predawn darkness two years ago tomorrow and plunged Korea into bloody, bitter war that has become a stalemate.

The naked aggression against the United Nations-sponsored Republic of (South) Korea by the Soviet Union's puppet North "Korean Peoples Republic" began a destructive see-saw struggle that has left the Asiatic peninsula in ruins.

Eighteen members of the United Nations and hordes of Chinese Communists have become involved in the war that has produced no winner. Casualties total more than two million. More than 10 million civilians are homeless.

UN troops have suffered 419,

Second Raid Made on Stations in North Korea Sectors

Seoul, Korea, June 24 (AP)—Air force and navy fighter-bombers teamed up again today to hammer four of the five Communist hydro-electric plants smashed yesterday in the biggest air raid of the Korean War.

Nearly 200 navy planes from big fleet carriers off Korea's east coast joined air force planes from dozens of Korean bases to hit the shattered generating stations for the second straight day, navy headquarters announced.

None of the planes returned to the smouldering Suiho power plants just south of the Yalu river boundary. But the air force said F-84 Thunderjets "completed destruction" of two power stations near Changjin reservoir and two on the Songchon river in eastern Korea.

F-86 Sabre Jet pilots exchanged firing passes with five MIG-15

Acheson, Eden Map Plans; American Is Given Degree

London, June 24 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden met today to map out joint strategy along a globe-girdling anti-Communist front stretching from Germany's Elbe to Korea's Yalu river.

Acheson flew to London yesterday to receive an honorary degree from Oxford University and to talk with his West European colleagues. Their periodic meetings are designed to oil the wheels of foreign policy cooperation and give the West united answers to any Soviet moves in the cold war.

Acheson's conversations with Eden were expected to range along the whole anti-aggression frontier, from West Europe through the Middle East of the Orient. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman joins the discussions here on Friday.

Acheson's schedule also included a luncheon meeting with Prime Minister Churchill today.

There is plenty to talk about.

In Western Europe, the foreign ministers are pushing for speedy rearming of West Germany. The Communists on both sides of the Iron Curtain are fighting bitterly to prevent the necessary parliamentary approvals.

Eden also was expected to stress Britain's current headaches in the Middle East, where anti-British sentiment long has been a big barrier to putting the Arab states actively in the western camp.

Major turning points are expected soon in Britain's relations with Egypt, which have shown signs of improving recently, and those with Iran, which have not.

Yesterday's 500-plane raid on North Korean power plants highlighted London speculation that major policy shifts are in the offing in the Far East. Whether this speculation was well-founded or not, Acheson and Eden were certain to discuss the reports on Korea from Britain's defense minister, Field Marshal Earl Alexander. He is due back here before the end of the week, after talks in Washington yesterday and today.

Vice Presidential Proposal On Taft Ticket Discussed

Washington, June 24 (AP) — A MacArthur-for-vice-president move was reported under discussion today by some supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who will keynote the Republican National Convention opening in Chicago July 7, has given public support to Taft's bid for the presidential nomination.

And while the general has said repeatedly he isn't a candidate for any office, some of the senator's followers believe MacArthur might be persuaded to accept second place on the ticket—assuming Taft gets the top spot.

They envision a colorful election campaign in which the five-star general would be provided with a special train and tour the country extensively.

The MacArthur tack is based on the apparent assumption of some Taft people that their candidate can win the presidential nomination without having to promise second place to anybody to return for delegate support.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's backers say Taft isn't going to win the nomination at all, so they contend the Ohioan won't have anything to do with the choice of the vice-presidential nominee.

MacArthur made it clear through an aide yesterday he isn't against the election of professional soldiers to public office, as such, though he's strongly against the development of a military

Will Have Million

Boston, June 24 (AP)—Sinclair Weeks, national finance chairman of the Republican party, said today the GOP nominees of the Chicago convention will have about $1,000,000 on hand for campaign purposes—more than ever before in history. Weeks, a convention delegate as well as a member of the national committee, came out last night for General Eisenhower as the "obvious choice" of the Republican National Convention.

Police Are Alerted

Tokyo, June 24 (AP)—Japanese police today were alerted for possible club swinging, acid throwing Communist riots at North Korean demonstrations on tomorrow's second anniversary of the Korean war.

Accused of Espionage

Frankfurt, June 24 (AP)—A Rhineland actress and a Frankfurt police official were accused today of directing the most powerful Soviet bloc spy ring ever uncovered in West Germany. The federal attorney general's office continued to muffle in secrecy most of the details of the espionage network which allied and German counter-intelligence agents smashed last April 28. But it disclosed that Maria Knuth, a Cologne stage veteran, and Hermann Westbelt, Frankfurt police department secretary, are held as alleged chief spies.

Eisenhower Hopes Both Get Chance

General Would Have Foreign Policy Plank Acceptable to Taft, Himself

Hits Isolationism

Taft Is Placed Among Major Stay-at-Homes in Ike's Speech

Denver, June 24 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today "I fervently hope" that a foreign policy plank can be written into the Republican platform which would be acceptable both to him and to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The general told an early morning news conference: "I don't want to see a bitter convention fight over this point."

This statement came after Eisenhower had patched his campaign on a peace or war issue with Taft. He had grouped Taft among the nation's isolationists in a major foreign policy speech last night. A reporter asked if he was "trying to put Taft on the defensive" in the final stages of the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Must Preach Truth

Eisenhower replied, "no, no. I just believe that someone must preach the truth about these things."

In reply to another question he made it clear he believes that Taft is among those who would "sit at home with an air force to be dispatched into the wild blue yonder" as America's major defense line.

He outlined his own peace and world security program in this way:

1. . . . Convince the world that America has a sincere devotion to peace and will not consider proposals for a "preventive war."

2. . . . Support the United Nations, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and other security agreements as instruments for peace.

3. . . . Pursue a positive foreign program, rather than a "hand to mouth" operation, which will line-up the allies against the enslavement of any nation.

4. . . . Build up spiritual and military strength which will convince the Russian leaders they must accept a "just and practical plan" of world disarmament.

Leaves No Doubt

In firm command of his own campaign, Eisenhower left no doubt he classed Taft among the isolationists and that he believed a "retreat into isolationism" would leave the United States "encircled by a savage wolf pack" of communism.

Today the general called a news conference (10:30 AES) to enlarge on his views. Later he was to meet with GOP National Convention delegates from Louisiana, where Taft-Eisenhower forces are disputing the manner in which delegates were elected to the national convention in Chicago next month.

The general didn't name Taft directly but his remarks were billed by Sen. Carlson (R.-Kan.), an advisor, as revealing a wide foreign policy chasm between the two Republican candidates. And Eisenhower gave his approval to this billing.

Coupled with the fact that Eisenhower recently (in private) called Taft an isolationist, he made it clear he was shooting at Taft when he said:

"Those who assert that America can retire within its own borders; those who seem to think we have little or no stake in the rest of the world and what happens to it; those who act as 'though we had no need for friends to share in the defense of freedom'—those persons are ignorant or irrespon-

Teamed Against Reds in Biggest Raid

Navy aircraft from U.S. carriers Princeton (top), Boxer (center) and Philippine Sea (bottom) teamed up with Air Force and Marine planes to knock out five major Communist hydro-electric plants in biggest air raid of the Korean war. Plants kayoed included world's fourth largest hydro-electric plant at Suiho, about 30 miles up the Yalu river from Red MIG base at Antung, two generating stations at Changjin Reservoir and two other plants on Songchon river in eastern North Korea.

Stalemate War Is Now 2 Years Old

UN Casualties Are 419,456 Including 109,971 American Men

Seoul, Korea, June 24 (AP)—Russian-built tanks rumbled southwar across Parallel 38 in the predawn darkness two years ago tomorrow and plunged Korea into bloody, bitter war that has become a stalemate.

The naked aggression against the United Nations-sponsored Republic of (South) Korea by the Soviet Union's puppet North "Korean Peoples Republic" began a destructive see-saw struggle that has left the Asiatic peninsula in ruins.

Eighteen members of the United Nations and hordes of Chinese Communists have become involved in the war that has produced no winner. Casualties total more than two million. More than 10 million civilians are homeless.

UN troops have suffered 419,

Second Raid Made on Stations in North Korea Sectors

Seoul, Korea, June 24 (AP)—Air force and navy fighter-bombers teamed up again today to hammer four of the five Communist hydro-electric plants smashed yesterday in the biggest air raid of the Korean War.

Nearly 200 navy planes from big fleet carriers off Korea's east coast joined air force planes from dozens of Korean bases to hit the shattered generating stations for the second straight day, navy headquarters announced.

None of the planes returned to the smouldering Suiho power plants just south of the Yalu river boundary. But the air force said F-84 Thunderjets "completed destruction" of two power stations near Changjin reservoir and two on the Songchon river in eastern Korea.

Vice Presidential Proposal On Taft Ticket Discussed

Washington, June 24 (AP) — A MacArthur-for-vice-president move was reported under discussion today by some supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who will keynote the Republican National Convention opening in Chicago July 7, has given public support to Taft's bid for the presidential nomination.

And while the general has said repeatedly he isn't a candidate for any office, some of the senator's followers believe MacArthur might be persuaded to accept second place on the ticket—assuming Taft gets the top spot.

They envision a colorful election campaign in which the five-star general would be provided with a special train and tour the country extensively.

The MacArthur tack is based on the apparent assumption of some Taft people that their candidate can win the presidential nomination without having to promise second place to anybody to return for delegate support.

..Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's backers say Taft isn't going to win the nomination at all, so they contend the Ohioan won't have anything to do with the choice of the vice-presidential nominee.

MacArthur made it clear through an aide yesterday he isn't against the election of professional soldiers to public office, as such, though he's strongly against the development of a military

Bruhn Says Homicide Is Suspected

Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, Was Unable to Give Police Details of What Happened

Guard Is Kept

Samuel Schifano, 62, Is Under Constant Surveillance

Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, died at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie between 5:15 and 5:30 p. m. Monday and the injured man who was found with her in her Highland area apartment is being held on suspicion of homicide, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn reported today.

Troopers following up an anonymous telephone call on Friday discovered Mrs. Nusca and Samuel Schifano, of New York, both suffering from serious cuts and slashes, in Mrs. Nusca's first floor apartment on Route 44-55 three miles west of Highland.

Both were taken to the Poughkeepsie hospital.

Mrs. Nusca's death Monday afternoon came before she was able to give state police any information.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy was performed by a Dutchess county assistant medical examiner with a Dr. Sweeney, who had been in attendance while Mrs. Nusca remained in critical condition at the hospital. Autopsy findings had not been reported by this morning.

A continuous guard was being maintained today over Schifano, who has been reported as "slightly improved" at St. Francis Hospital. At first held on an assault charge, the charge was changed to one of homicide following Mrs. Nusca's death, and pending further results of an investigation by authorities.

The guard is being provided by members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Will Have Counsel

Schifano, whose correct age is now believed to be 62, will be represented by Attorney Gittleson, a state senator, of 26 Court street, Brooklyn, according to a communication by the district attorney from Senator Gittleson.

State police who entered Mrs. Nusca's apartment on Friday shortly before noon reported they found a hatchet and a butcher knife near the injured man and woman. She suffered a deep scalp laceration which penetrated the skull and the severance of several fingers, and Schifano suffered cuts in his chest near the heart, troopers reported.

It has been established that Mrs. Nusa was a widow, and had four daughters and one son, all grown and not living with her.

Accused of Espionage

Frankfurt, June 24 (AP)—A Rhineland actress and a Frankfurt police official were accused today of directing the most powerful Soviet bloc spy ring ever uncovered in West Germany. The federal attorney general's office continued to muffle in secrecy most of the details of the espionage network which allied and German counter-intelligence agents smashed last April 28. But it disclosed that Maria Knuth, a Cologne stage veteran, and Hermann Westbelt, Frankfurt police department secretary, are held as alleged chief spies.

Will Have Million

Boston, June 24 (AP)—Sinclair Weeks, national finance chairman of the Republican party, said today the GOP nominees of the Chicago convention will have about $1,000,000 on hand for campaign purposes—more than ever before in history. Weeks, a convention delegate as well as a member of the national committee, came out last night for General Eisenhower as the "obvious choice" of the Republican National Convention.

Police Are Alerted

Tokyo, June 24 (AP)—Japanese police today were alerted for possible club swinging, acid throwing Communist riots at North Korean demonstrations on tomorrow's second anniversary of the Korean war.

Acheson, Eden Map Plans; American Is Given Degree

London, June 24 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden met today to map out joint strategy along a globe-girdling anti-Communist front stretching from Germany's Elbe to Korea's Yalu river.

Acheson flew to London yesterday to receive an honorary degree from Oxford University and to talk with his West European colleagues. Their periodic meetings are designed to oil the wheels of foreign policy cooperation and give the West united answers to any Soviet moves in the cold war.

Acheson's conversations with Eden were expected to range along the whole anti-aggression frontier, from West Europe through the Middle East of the Orient. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman joins the discussions here on Friday.

Acheson's schedule also included a luncheon meeting with Prime Minister Churchill today.

There is plenty to talk about. In Western Europe, the foreign ministers are pushing for speedy rearming of West Germany. The Communists on both sides of the Iron Curtain are fighting bitterly to prevent the necessary parliamentary approvals.

Eden also was expected to stress Britain's current headaches in the Middle East, where anti-British sentiment long has been a big barrier to putting the Arab states actively in the western camp.

Major turning points are expected soon in Britain's relations with Egypt, which have shown signs of improving recently, and those with Iran, which have not.

Yesterday's 500-plane raid on North Korean power plants highlighted London speculation that major policy shifts are in the offing in the Far East. Whether this speculation was well-founded or not, Acheson and Eden were certain to discuss the reports on Korea from Britain's defense minister, Field Marshal Earl Alexander. He is due back here before the end of the week, after talks in Washington yesterday and today.

The Mature Parent

Don't Let a Talented Child Evade His Responsibilities

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

She is a pretty, talented child of 15 who has been singing and dancing in public for some time. She is cheer leader for her high school athletic teams, and what with her boyfriends and entertaining dates, has to stay up late to get her school work done.

Her mother is worried over her nervous state whenever she has to face school tests and disturbed by the impatience of her daughter's teachers.

"They do not understand that she needs love and admiration to do well," the mother writes.

My reader's worry is a healthy sign. It is time that her child began to learn how to perform without applause.

Schools are not established merely to teach algebra and history, but to help young people learn to do what they're told without the support of love and admiration.

We're the people responsible for the love and encouragement, not teachers. They are the people who prepare children to work for employers who are not fathers, mothers or admirers, but who just want jobs done. They serve as intermediaries between homes and the world where children must work for those whom they do not love and who do not love them.

We undervalue the real function of school experience when we think of it merely as education in algebra and history.

If I had a young daughter who found it impossible to be interested in any activity that did not bring her admiration and applause, I would crack down on those activities. I would explain why it is important to be active without the drug of flattery.

I would do this out of a personal conviction that intoxication induced by flattery impairs the true self-esteem of children. Unless we have such conviction we may indeed be in a spot when our athletic hero sons and cheerleading daughters come home so drunk on applause that they can't put their minds on algebra and history.

If we are going to continue to expose adolescent children to the heavy dose of public applause from grandstands the way we do, we should see to it that they get loving and persistent instruction on the value of the noise made by hands beaten together.

We tend to neglect this duty. That is why in our society we have so many people who make careers of playing to grandstands long after the audience has found other shows to amuse and entertain it.

I am not suggesting that algebra or history are vital to the peace of talented children with aptitudes for dancing, Italian airas, violins, water colors or carrying the ball over the goal line. I am certainly suggesting that their attention to algebra or history is vital.

This attention is a responsibility. If it is not assumed, they are led to believe that their aptitudes excuse them from ordinary responsibilities, that they are entitled to evade any that is not connected with applause.

Such misleading training produces middle-aged men who are only happy recalling the day when they won the game for dear old Something. It produces the maladjusted artists, writers, actors and musicians who go to pieces under criticism and are never done complaining of how they never got a "break."

We should take more care how we encourage talented children to regard their gifts as claims to special privileges. Unless the talent is rooted in character that can weather the rainy as well as the sunny seasons, it is not an asset to our talented child, but a grave liability.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 24 (AP)—The stock market moved along in irregular course today with trading attention highly selective.

Gains ran from factions to between 1 and 2 points while losses were confined to fractions.

Trading was moderately active and right around the same rate that resulted in a total yesterday of 1,200,000 shares.

A brief buying flurry sent the radio-television section ahead after the government withdrew its ban on production of color television sets.

Radio Corp., Columbia Broadcasting System, and Paramount Pictures, all with color television systems of their own, were active and higher right after the order was issued. Other radio-television producers followed along the higher trend.

The flurry didn't last long, but the section held to its small gains. The first reaction in the industry was that the government's order would have little effect because of the engineer shortage, but final judgment on the order generally was withheld.

The series of severe thunder storms, accompanied by winds of gale-like velocity and hail, interrupted electric and telephone service over a period of hours Tuesday afternoon and evening. Large trees and those of smaller size also were uprooted, limbs torn from trees and breaking utility lines were general reports. During the storm, the Modena Fire Department was called to Kurt Lasser's property in Ardonia where a short circuit in a gas pump caused alarm. The storm was reminiscent of the hurricane of 1948. A large weeping willow, an unusually beautiful speciman, was uprooted on the Pagentine property in town and in Ardonia a pine tree toppled over, crashing the roof of a frame dwelling house occupied by the Sabarese family.

New York, June 24 (AP)—Senator Estes Kefauver, Democratic aspirant for the presidential nomination, today claimed the support of a number of New York delegates. Referring at a news conference to the fact that New York state Democratic leaders have said the state's delegation is "nearly solidly committed to Averell Harriman," Kefauver declared: "The truth is that we have been informed by the delegates themselves that a large proportion of them had not been consulted when this commitment was made; that many of the delegates supposedly committed to Mr. Harriman have told us that they are actually not committed at all; and that there are a number of them who have informed us that they will support me."

The Mature Parent

Don't Let a Talented Child Evade His Responsibilities

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

She is a pretty, talented child of 15 who has been singing and dancing in public for some time. She is cheer leader for her high school athletic teams, and what with her boyfriends and entertaining dates, has to stay up late to get her school work done.

Her mother is worried over her nervous state whenever she has to face school tests and disturbed by the impatience of her daughter's teachers.

"They do not understand that she needs love and admiration to do well," the mother writes.

My reader's worry is a healthy sign. It is time that her child began to learn how to perform without applause.

Schools are not established merely to teach algebra and history, but to help young people learn to do what they're told without the support of love and admiration.

We're the people responsible for the love and encouragement, not teachers. They are the people who prepare children to work for employers who are not fathers, mothers or admirers, but who just want jobs done. They serve as intermediaries between homes and the world where children must work for those whom they do not love and who do not love them.

We undervalue the real function of school experience when we think of it merely as education in algebra and history.

If I had a young daughter who found it impossible to be interested in any activity that did not bring her admiration and applause, I would crack down on those activities. I would explain why it is important to be active without the drug of flattery.

I would do this out of a personal conviction that intoxication induced by flattery impairs the true self-esteem of children. Unless we have such conviction we may indeed be in a spot when our athletic hero sons and cheerleading daughters come home so drunk on applause that they can't put their minds on algebra and history.

If we are going to continue to expose adolescent children to the heavy dose of public applause from grandstands the way we do, we should see to it that they get loving and persistent instruction on the value of the noise made by hands beaten together.

We tend to neglect this duty. That is why in our society we have so many people who make careers of playing to grandstands long after the audience has found other shows to amuse and entertain it.

I am not suggesting that algebra or history are vital to the peace of talented children with aptitudes for dancing, Italian airas, violins, water colors or carrying the ball over the goal line. I am certainly suggesting that their attention to algebra or history is vital.

This attention is a responsibility. If it is not assumed, they are led to believe that their aptitudes excuse them from ordinary responsibilities, that they are entitled to evade any that is not connected with applause.

Such misleading training produces middle-aged men who are only happy recalling the day when they won the game for dear old Something. It produces the maladjusted artists, writers, actors and musicians who go to pieces under criticism and are never done complaining of how they never got a "break."

We should take more care how we encourage talented children to regard their gifts as claims to special privileges. Unless the talent is rooted in character that can weather the rainy as well as the sunny seasons, it is not an asset to our talented child, but a grave liability.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 24 (AP)—The stock market moved along in irregular course today with trading attention highly selective.

Gains ran from factions to between 1 and 2 points while losses were confined to fractions.

Trading was moderately active and right around the same rate that resulted in a total yesterday of 1,200,000 shares.

A brief buying flurry sent the radio-television section ahead after the government withdrew its ban on production of color television sets.

Radio Corp., Columbia Broadcasting System, and Paramount Pictures, all with color television systems of their own, were active and higher right after the order was issued. Other radio-television producers followed along the higher trend.

The flurry didn't last long, but the section held to its small gains. The first reaction in the industry was that the government's order would have little effect because of the engineer shortage, but final judgment on the order generally was withheld.

Water surged down main avenues en route to the Great Salt Lake while a good portion of the surrounding business and residential lowlands remained bone dry.

Street Become Canals

Salt Lake City (AP)—What happens in Salt Lake City's valley-bottom land when mountain streams overrun normal drainage system and there's no place for the water to run? They block off certain streets, line them with sandbags, and, presto, there's a canal. The system was used with good results in recent spring floods. Water surged down main avenues en route to the Great Salt Lake while a good portion of the surrounding business and residential lowlands remained bone dry.

IKE AIMS TO WEATHER STORMS

To General Eisenhower's forces, the task of nominating him as Republican choice for the presidency breaks down into three phases. The second is the most critical, since it involves what happens to the big Pennsylvania and Michigan delegations and the disputed delegates from four southern states.

These days, of course, Eisenhower is making a few major speeches, meeting hordes of delegates who troop to his door, orienting himself to the political scene. His energies naturally must be bent toward winning delegates, not toward attracting large blocks of voters whom he might have to face in the fall.

No one but the doubtful delegates themselves really knows what impact the general is having both on the platform and in these personal sessions. Possibly he may be narrowing slightly the gap in delegates between himself and Senator Taft.

But, though important groundwork may well be laid in this period, it is the next stage that will tell the story. The possibilities at this point are legion, and speculation could be almost endless.

Suppose, for instance, that the Michigan and Pennsylvania groups make the jump before decision is had on the disputed southern delegations. If these two went heavily for Ike, it unquestionably would influence the Taft-controlled national committee and credentials committee to move toward an even-split sort of compromise on the contested southerners.

If, however, the hearings on the contests get under way before Michigan and Pennsylvania decide, the Taft elements on the national committee may still urge compromise but try for an outcome more favorable to the senator. They would do this under risk that the Eisenhower camp might take the issue to the convention floor and possibly upset their decision and produce stronger southern representation for Ike.

At this stage, Governor Fine of Pennsylvania and the Michigan leaders would be watching closely to see what happened. If the contests went markedly for Taft and were upheld by the convention on appeal, the two big groups might well decide Taft had it, and throw in their strength with him. But if the edge given Taft were narrower, or the decision overthrown by the convention, they might conclude it was Ike's race and join him.

In the former event, Taft would undoubtedly win the nomination. Thus it is the latter development that the Eisenhower forces seek: a result out of the southern contests either strongly favorable or sufficiently close so that Taft gets no striking advantage from it. This on the theory that they thus could still make heavy inroads on Pennsylvania and Michigan and get past the critical phase.

If they make it, their hopes will instantly soar. From that point on they foresee blue skies. For they count on dipping deeply into the pool of 130 delegates committed to such other candidates as Governor Warren, Harold Stassen, and Governor McKeldin of Maryland.

The Eisenhower men make no public claims, but it is well known they believe they will inherit about four-fifths of this block of 130—or slightly more than 100. If by that time Ike were around the 500-mark, he could thereby leap to the needed 604 even if Taft were previously a little distance ahead.

Reports from various cities that the cost of haircuts has been raised to a dollar and a half or more would lead one to believe that stock in a hair ribbon factory might be a good buy.

With schools closing for the summer we are faced with another vexing question of controlling superatomic energy. Fortunately, we shall not have to consult the Russians about it.

NEUTRALISM

The real menace to the United States is a doctrine called neutralism which exists in every European country, including Great Britain. It is the concept that the war of the future is between the United States and Soviet Russia and that each European country can find a program for being neutral as between these two giants.

In Great Britain, for instance, neutralism is being advocated by Aneurin Bevan. While American anglophiles laugh at Bevan, the fact stands out that should the Churchill government fall at any time during the next five crucial years, Bevan could and probably will be the prime minister.

The appointment of Andrei Gromyko, as the Soviet ambassador to Great Britain, is symbolic of Russia's interest in British affairs. His predecessor at that post, Georgi Nikolaevitch Zarubin, is a diplomat of lesser importance, with a bad reputation because the Soviet spy case in Canada broke when he was in charge there; similarly, Soviet espionage in England became public when he was there.

Now he is coming to the United States as ambassador. We have to take Zarubin, but we shall not like him.

Gromyko is the third most important man in the field of foreign affairs in Soviet Russia, above him being Molotov, who is busy with party affairs, and Vishinsky, who is ill. He is in line to be minister of foreign affairs.

Gromyko would not be wasted on a country which Stalin regarded as finished as far back as 1943. The answer, of course, is that Great Britain is again emerging as important in European affairs and could wrest leadership from the United States. A Left Socialist government in Great Britain, devoted to the concept of neutralism, could, even unwillingly, become an adjunct of Soviet policy, the objective of which is the isolation of the United States.

Certain factors enter into this situation:

1. NATO as a military force does not appeal to the European nations that have to go along with it because of their economic dependence upon this country, which has contributed about $40,000,000,000 to sustain them since 1945. The Europeans would prefer to free themselves from that dependence by East-West trade, which the Russians offer them.

2. The United Nations no longer plays an important role in European affairs, those countries having reverted to secret diplomacy, each with the other. The existence of NATO and the separate preparation of the Bonn Agreement leave the United Nations without a program in European affairs. It has been by-passed.

In such circumstances, Russia can play the tempter's role, offering trade concessions in return for betrayal of the United States. It may be a tough job but one for which Gromyko is particularly fitted. His long stay in the United States, his handling of affairs in the United Nations, his familiarity with the leading personalities in each country, and his more-than-usual, for a Russian, social aptitude will make a difference.

3. Europe is disturbed by the presidential campaign in the United States. The Europeans have become accustomed to a State Department managed by General George Marshall and Dean Acheson. It has been a pleasant State Department to them. They had been led to believe that General Eisenhower's election was inevitable and that the Marshall-Acheson policies would be continued.

As it stands now, it is uncertain whether General Eisenhower will be nominated, or if nominated, elected. The assumption of inevitability is gone.

The possible election of Robert A. Taft leads them to speculate on who would be secretary of state and they come up with such names as Douglas MacArthur, John Foster Dulles or William C. Bullitt, to mention only three who could not be cajoled into a love for European methods.

Not even Eisenhower frightens them because, since his return, he is changing his tune. He is coming closer to the position of Senator Taft and John Foster Dulles. No one can tell how far he might go in this direction, particularly if he speaks off the cuff, as he said he would in Detroit.

In practical terms, this could mean that from June to November, uncertainty as to the continuity of the Marshall-Acheson policy, or even as to any American policy, will prevail among Europeans. The election will not be postponed to make it easy for them.

Into this situation, Gromyko moves to do his work. It will be fascinating to watch him.

CONTROL OF HEART DISEASE

Not so long ago it was thought that once an individual was known to have heart disease he was doomed. Thus the heart patient lived a life of fear and gave up all active pursuits. A patient with a leaking valve of the heart was among those slated for an early death. Heart disease was incurable.

During the campaign for funds in February by the American Heart Association, some reassuring information was published by Dr. Louis N. Katz, president of the association. In writing of the Heart Campaign, Dr. Katz stated, "This is not a campaign for the care of incurables but a campaign to salvage human beings for whom there is hope. This is not a program of complete patient care but one aiming fundamentally to find out how better to recognize, treat and prevent a group of diseases by new discoveries, by the spreading of knowledge to all, and by leadership in neglected areas of community service."

Chronic disease is our most common form of illness. Diseases of the heart and blood vessels are the most important of the chronic diseases, because so many are affected and because so much can be done to improve their condition. Not all of the millions of persons with heart and blood vessel disease are bedridden. Many are up and about, doing almost all their daily work and able to enjoy life.

In that formerly fatal disease, bacterial endocarditis (inflammation of the lining of the heart due to certain organisms), practically every case is saved and the patient cured or the condition arrested by the use of penicillin and the sulpha drugs.

As it is high blood pressure that causes heart stroke (coronary thrombosis), surgery is able to reduce pressure by cutting the nerves that tighten and tense the blood vessels. Surgery is also used in heart disease present at birth so that the lives of "blue babies" can be saved. Very few blue babies reached their teens heretofore.

Less dramatic, but equally successful, is the physician's treatment of heart and blood vessel diseases. "Failure of the heart can now be vigorously corrected in many cases by rest, diet, by cutting down on table salt and salty foods, by use of certain vitamins and by drugs.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Congressman Oren Harris, Arkansas Democrat, tried to laugh off a $200 dinner date with Pan American Airways' vice president, J. Carroll Cone, as reported in this column.

In 1950, Harris voted against Pan Am on the question of separating mail pay from government subsidies. But this year, Pan Am's representative paid the check for Harris and his wife at the $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. After that dinner, Harris reversed his vote on the mail pay question, and even took the initiative in the secrecy of the committee, of introducing the Pan Am substitute.

After these facts were brought to light by this column, Harris was kidded about it at a closed-door meeting of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

"At least the Democratic party got the money," was Harris's flippant reply.

While it is true that the Democrats got the $200 and the congressman got a free dinner—Pan American Airways stands to get $17,000,000 at the taxpayers' expense.

Stop Kefauver

Inside fact about the Harriman-Kefauver race in the District of Columbia was that President Truman had passed out word that he wanted to use this to stop Kefauver at any cost.

Mr. T., egged on by those around him, is still smarting over the way the lank Tennessean trounced him in the New Hampshire primary. And, to get even, the President passed the word down to the local Democratic machine, also delivered a ringing civil rights speech at Washington's leading Negro college, Howard University, at the height of the Kefauver-Harriman campaign. There were two results:

1. Immediate result was to put the Tennessee senator on the spot with Negro voters.

2. Long-term result will be to defeat home rule for the District of Columbia.

For the manner in which Negro voters repeated at the polls on behalf of Harriman strengthened the argument that the colored population would vote along racial lines if the franchise were given to the nation's capital.

For instance, election observers spotted a gray Pontiac convertible (license J-9757, a Cadillac (license 721), and at least three cabs (licenses 6911, H-8079, and H-6797), making the rounds of the polling places, picking up and dropping off the very same groups of Negroes.

Under the lax D. C. primary rules repeating was easy. All the repeaters had to do was sign a statement that they were Democrats. There was no double check on their names or whether they had voted elsewhere that day.

Note—Only 19,000 votes were cast in a city now approaching the population of a million.

Washington Pipeline

Frank Edwards, one of the most forthright radio reporters in the game, is going to have the rug pulled out from under him by three A. F. of L. unions. The Edwards program is unique in radio as the first ever to be sponsored by labor unions. However, Edwards has done too good a job. Remarked one labor leader: "If he had just muddled along, the Republicans wouldn't resent it. 'But how can the AFL get any cooperation from the Republicans if we are fighting them on the radio every night?"..

Despite the opposition of big steel to the Wage Stabilization Board's package program, two small steel companies signed up with the union on the WSB terms and are making money. They are Henry Kaiser's Fontana plant at San Bernardino, Calif., and Portsmouth Steel at Portsmouth, Ohio, owned by Cyrus Eaton... Though Eaton and Kaiser hate each other, they both get along with labor.

Watching McCarran

Nevada's wily Senator Pat McCarran has quarterbacked many a fast one in the Senate, but none to match the sleeper he almost put across recently. He came within a whisker of slipping an amendment through the Senate, sight unseen, requiring the taxpayers to stand good the loss if any contractor lost money on a defense contract for the government.

McCarran's amendment also would have reached back to War 2 and permitted the reopening of several war contracts, even though already vetoed by the courts.

In brief, any of McCarran's contractor friends who lost money could simply turn their bills over to the government and the government had to make up the deficit.

However, alert Senator Francis Case, South Dakota Republican, smelled something fishy about the amendment and blocked it for 15 days for further study. McCarran, himself, never even appeared on the floor but got Senator Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, to carry the ball for him.

Eastland explained that the amendment was part of the war powers act and had to be passed immediately before the act expired. Then he asked for the Senate's immediate and unanimous approval, blandly assuring that there was nothing controversial in the measure.

But when Case started asking questions, Eastland explained: "I was instructed by the chairman of the committee (McCarran) to offer this."

He indicated he really didn't know much about the amendment.

Insisting on a 15-day delay, Case wrote Comptroller General Lindsay Warren:

"The net effect would be to require the government to pay for all net losses sustained by government contractors from the time hostilities ended in World War 2 up to the present and far into the foreseeable future."

Thanks to the watchfulness of the senator from South Dakota, the taxpayers will be saved many millions.

Mike and Ike

Tim McInerney, former troubleshooter in the Justice Department, was dining at Los Pinos, the White House of Mexico, with President Aleman. After dinner the talk got round to politics and the U. S. elections which interest Mexico almost as much as the people of the United States.

"Under certain conditions," said President Aleman, "I feel a kinship for General Eisenhower."

"Why it that?" queried McInerney.

"Well," said the President, whose first name is Miguel, "you know—Mike and Ike."

Remarkable Birthday Candle!

A candle, in the home of Mrs. Chas. Crutchfield, Hamilton, Montana, was first used on a birthday cake, April 26, 1894, and has been used on successive birthdays since that time. It is now being used for the third generation. Originally it was a 10-inch wax taper but now it is about 2 inches high. It is always lighted at each birthday but is extinguished as soon as the customary good wishes are made.

HST's Stand on T-H Law and Steel Workers Places Grounds for Impeachment Close

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 24—President Truman has come dangerously near the point where he can be impeached for a "high crime and misdemeanor," as the Constitution phrases the basis for the proceedings that can lead to the removal of a chief executive.

Mr. Truman has said that, although the Department of Justice may attempt to enforce the existing law on labor-management relations, as it has done before in the coal cases, he would not be surprised if the Steelworkers' Union failed to obey the injunctions which may be issued by the courts under that law.

This can be construed as encouraging the union to violate a court order.

Mr. Truman's trouble is that he doesn't understand the difference between the right of the individual to refrain from working and the right of a group of individuals by concerted action to persuade other individuals to refrain from working. There is no right of a union to order a strike or to maintain a strike when a court of the United States, acting under law, has ordered a union not to do so. That very point has been made by the Department of Justice under Mr. Truman's administration and has been upheld in the coal cases by the Supreme Court. Any instruction by any union officer or by two or more members—tacit or overt—to any individual worker to strike while an injunction is in force is a violation of law. It is a conspiracy.

A president of the United States by an abuse of his power could, of course, connive to prevent the Department of Justice from sincerely enforcing the law or prosecuting the case. As has happened before, the union could pull a sham strike by pretending that the men were sick, but the Department of Justice, under a president who was intent on faithfully enforcing the laws of the land—including those which provide for obedience to court orders—could penetrate that sham and present to the courts evidence to show that the so-called "sickness" was merely a concerted means of evading the law.

The most charitable interpretation of Mr. Truman's behavior is that he allows personal pride and pique to interfere with his judgment, and, when at a press conference he was needled into answering whether he thought a Taft-Hartley injunction would be obeyed by the Steelworkers' Union, he answered in the negative without weighing the serious implications of his chance remark.

Phil Murray, head of the Steelworkers' Union, has stated that the Taft-Hartley Act, "will not manufacture steel." He is within his rights in expressing an opinion as to the probable efficacy of the law in a broad sense, but, if he should say this while his union is actually under an injunction issued by the courts in accordance with the Taft-Hartley Act and imply that his men should not obey such an injunction, he could be charged with contempt of court and tried on that accusation.

Mr. Truman has shown all along his dislike for the Taft-Hartley Act, and in a recent press conference he came near saying that he would enforce only those laws of which he approved. It so happens that the Taft-Hartley Act was passed over his veto. But the Constitution of the United States, which requires a President "to take care that the laws be faithfully executed," doesn't say anything about enforcing only those laws of which a President may approve.

Mr. Truman has been within his rights in refusing to use the Taft-Hartley Act. That laws says a President "may" invoke the injunction process if, in his opinion, a threatened or actual strike or lock-out will "imperil the national health or safety." Congress has not "directed" the President to use that law. Ie merely has "requested" him to do so. One wonders why Congress doesn't make it mandatory for the President to use the Taft-Hartley Act, but, for reasons of its own, the Congress has not seen fit to do so and therefore is equally to blame for the loss of production in the current steel strike.

Granted that the Taft-Hartley Act postpones by 80 days a decision as what to do if the Steelworkers' Union and the steel-industry management have not agreed on a basis for settlement, the fact remains that, when the 80 days have been used for the purpose specified in the law, then and then only Congress will feel compelled to pass a law authorizing seizure of the industry for an indefinite period.

Mr. Truman and the Steelworkers' Union know that this is what is likely to be done, and that's why they vehemently oppose the first step, because it inevitably will lead to the second. It is not relevant as a matter of law for the President to say that the union has already waited more than 80 days beyond its contract expiration, and that hence waiting is futile. The law doesn't date the waiting period from any starting point as private parties may designate. It dates the wait from the day the President invokes the law itself, and that's really the next step, no matter how unpalatable it is for Mr. Truman to employ a statute of which he doesn't approve but which, so far as the constitution is concerned, is the law of the land.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I tell you, you simply cannot imagine the gall of the labor fakers of our State Department and their cohorts of the American union racket in the European countries where American fighting men won the war and the State Department and the Pentagon under the Roosevelt-Truman administration threw their victory all away.

Did it ever occur to any of us, to any American soldier fighting up Italy or any citizen-taxpayer here at home, that these conspirators in our capital were planning to sneak in a whole corps of professional unioneers to impose on Italy, France, Germany and Greece the same yellow-dog system that Roosevelt and John L. Lewis had created here under cover of Roosevelt's own panic which was called a "recession"? What had our unions done to win the war except run up the cost by billions through slow-downs on production, extravagrant wages, 5,000 strikes a year and outright extortion?

We knew nothing about it at the time, but small parties of key racketeers were slipped into France and Italy, behind the conquering American soldiers, always well to the rear of course and always under escort by political army officers, usually of the reserve. They went there to survey the opportunities, like stickups casing a joint. Then, when the shooting was over, ferocious anti-Communists like the pugnacious Irving Brown of the Garment Workers' Union, who got out of Paris lest some Communist hit him a poke in the snoot, rushed in to exploit the situation.

Ever since then, our own State Department, through our regular ambassadors and through its secret corps of privileged unioneers, has been representing to European peoples that the American people are all red-hot for unions. That Dave Dubinsky, of the Garment Workers, is a very popular American. That the Reuther brothers, who spent a couple of years in a Russian factory and wrote rapturous letters about the workers' paradise, are leaders of the American working people.

All this has cost the American taxpayers many millions but not one American in a million knew it was going on. On the whole it has been a flop. The European workers have paid little attention to them. Brown and George Meany, the secretary-treasurer of the AF of L, the master-racket of them all, have had to admit in recent months that they were making little progress against the indifference of the French and Italian workers. However, the American agents such as Brown and Harry Rutz, to name only a couple of the many who have latched onto easy jobs with tax-free salaries, 16-cent gasoline for their cars, tax-free American booze and cigarettes and lavish supplies of American groceries at discounts subsidized by the American taxpayers, have not been willing to give up easily. They may never again have it so good, as the trade-phrase of the carpet-bag occupation goes.

Would you like an example of the missionary work that you have been paying for in Europe? The following is quoted from the Rome Daily American, a subsidized propaganda sheet:

"Twenty-five male technicians from five European nations followed a chambermaid on her rounds from hotel room to room yesterday in the Rome seaside resort of Fregene for the avowed purpose of 'increasing productivity.' The occasion for the corridor-bedroom- and bath procession was the spring productivity conference sponsored by the United States' Mutual Security Agency, (successor to the Economic Cooperation Administration) currently in session here for a six-week period. Selected personneli from France, Germany, Austria and Denmark are being trained to go out into European industry and train others in increasing production.

"The chambermaid represented a problem in productivity and the 25 students observed her actions

IKE AIMS TO WEATHER STORMS

To General Eisenhower's forces, the task of nominating him as Republican choice for the presidency breaks down into three phases. The second is the most critical, since it involves what happens to the big Pennsylvania and Michigan delegations and the disputed delegates from four southern states.

These days, of course, Eisenhower is making a few major speeches, meeting hordes of delegates who troop to his door, orienting himself to the political scene. His energies naturally must be bent toward winning delegates, not toward attracting large blocks of voters whom he might have to face in the fall.

No one but the doubtful delegates themselves really knows what impact the general is having both on the platform and in these personal sessions. Possibly he may be narrowing slightly the gap in delegates between himself and Senator Taft.

But, though important groundwork may well be laid in this period, it is the next stage that will tell the story. The possibilities at this point are legion, and speculation could be almost endless.

Suppose, for instance, that the Michigan and Pennsylvania groups make the jump before decision is had on the disputed southern delegations. If these two went heavily for Ike, it unquestionably would influence the Taft-controlled national committee and credentials committee to move toward an even-split sort of compromise on the contested southerners.

If, however, the hearings on the contests get under way before Michigan and Pennsylvania decide, the Taft elements on the national committee may still urge compromise but try for an outcome more favorable to the senator. They would do this under risk that the Eisenhower camp might take the issue to the convention floor and possibly upset their decision and produce stronger southern representation for Ike.

At this stage, Governor Fine of Pennsylvania and the Michigan leaders would be watching closely to see what happened. If the contests went markedly for Taft and were upheld by the convention on appeal, the two big groups might well decide Taft had it, and throw in their strength with him. But if the edge given Taft were narrower, or the decision overthrown by the convention, they might conclude it was Ike's race and join him.

In the former event, Taft would undoubtedly win the nomination. Thus it is the latter development that the Eisenhower forces seek: a result out of the southern contests either strongly favorable or sufficiently close so that Taft gets no striking advantage from it. This on the theory that they thus could still make heavy inroads on Pennsylvania and Michigan and get past the critical phase.

If they make it, their hopes will instantly soar. From that point on they foresee blue skies. For they count on dipping deeply into the pool of 130 delegates committed to such other candidates as Governor Warren, Harold Stassen, and Governor McKeldin of Maryland.

The Eisenhower men make no public claims, but it is well known they believe they will inherit about four-fifths of this block of 130—or slightly more than 100. If by that time Ike were around the 500-mark, he could thereby leap to the needed 604 even if Taft were previously a little distance ahead.

Reports from various cities that the cost of haircuts has been raised to a dollar and a half or more would lead one to believe that stock in a hair ribbon factory might be a good buy.

With schools closing for the summer we are faced with another vexing question of controlling superatomic energy. Fortunately, we shall not have to consult the Russians about it.

Astronomers are beginning to think that principles of turbulence, as in boiling water, control the universe from galaxies down to molecules. There must be some reason why everything's in such a stew.

Could the Ohio man who ran his car off the road because he was attacked by a buzzard say he was "Buzz-bombed?"

NEUTRALISM

The real menace to the United States is a doctrine called neutralism which exists in every European country, including Great Britain. It is the concept that the war of the future is between the United States and Soviet Russia and that each European country can find a program for being neutral as between these two giants.

In Great Britain, for instance, neutralism is being advocated by Aneurin Bevan. While American anglophiles laugh at Bevan, the fact stands out that should the Churchill government fall at any time during the next five crucial years, Bevan could and probably will be the prime minister.

The appointment of Andrei Gromyko, as the Soviet ambassador to Great Britain, is symbolic of Russia's interest in British affairs. His predecessor at that post, Georgi Nikolaevitch Zarubin, is a diplomat of lesser importance, with a bad reputation because the Soviet spy case in Canada broke when he was in charge there; similarly, Soviet espionage in England became public when he was there.

Now he is coming to the United States as ambassador. We have to take Zarubin, but we shall not like him.

Gromyko is the third most important man in the field of foreign affairs in Soviet Russia, above him being Molotov, who is busy with party affairs, and Vishinsky, who is ill. He is in line to be minister of foreign affairs.

Gromyko would not be wasted on a country which Stalin regarded as finished as far back as 1943. The answer, of course, is that Great Britain is again emerging as important in European affairs and could wrest leadership from the United States. A Left Socialist government in Great Britain, devoted to the concept of neutralism, could, even unwillingly, become an adjunct of Soviet policy, the objective of which is the isolation of the United States.

Certain factors enter into this situation:

1. NATO as a military force does not appeal to the European nations that have to go along with it because of their economic dependence upon this country, which has contributed about $40,000,000,000 to sustain them since 1945. The Europeans would prefer to free themselves from that dependence by East-West trade, which the Russians offer them.

2. The United Nations no longer plays an important role in European affairs, those countries having reverted to secret diplomacy, each with the other. The existence of NATO and the separate preparation of the Bonn Agreement leave the United Nations without a program in European affairs. It has been by-passed.

In such circumstances, Russia can play the tempter's role, offering trade concessions in return for betrayal of the United States. It may be a tough job but one for which Gromyko is particularly fitted. His long stay in the United States, his handling of affairs in the United Nations, his familiarity with the leading personalities in each country, and his more-than-usual, for a Russian, social aptitude will make a difference.

3. Europe is disturbed by the presidential campaign in the United States. The Europeans have become accustomed to a State Department managed by General George Marshall and Dean Acheson. It has been a pleasant State Department to them. They had been led to believe that General Eisenhower's election was inevitable and that the Marshall-Acheson policies would be continued.

As it stands now, it is uncertain whether General Eisenhower will be nominated, or if nominated, elected. The assumption of inevitability is gone.

The possible election of Robert A. Taft leads them to speculate on who would be secretary of state and they come up with such names as Douglas MacArthur, John Foster Dulles or William C. Bullitt, to mention only three who could not be cajoled into a love for European methods.

Not even Eisenhower frightens them because, since his return, he is changing his tune. He is coming closer to the position of Senator Taft and John Foster Dulles. No one can tell how far he might go in this direction, particularly if he speaks off the cuff, as he said he would in Detroit.

In practical terms, this could mean that from June to November, uncertainty as to the continuity of the Marshall-Acheson policy, or even as to any American policy, will prevail among Europeans. The election will not be postponed to make it easy for them.

Into this situation, Gromyko moves to do his work. It will be fascinating to watch him.

That Body of Yours

CONTROL OF HEART DISEASE

Not so long ago it was thought that once an individual was known to have heart disease he was doomed. Thus the heart patient lived a life of fear and gave up all active pursuits. A patient with a leaking valve of the heart was among those slated for an early death. Heart disease was incurable.

During the campaign for funds in February by the American Heart Association, some reassuring information was published by Dr. Louis N. Katz, president of the association. In writing of the Heart Campaign, Dr. Katz stated, "This is not a campaign for the care of incurables but a campaign to salvage human beings for whom there is hope. This is not a program of complete patient care but one aiming fundamentally to find out how better to recognize, treat and prevent a group of diseases by new discoveries, by the spreading of knowledge to all, and by leadership in neglected areas of community service."

Chronic disease is our most common form of illness. Diseases of the heart and blood vessels are the most important of the chronic diseases, because so many are affected and because so much can be done to improve their condition. Not all of the millions of persons with heart and blood vessel disease are bedridden. Many are up and about, doing almost all their daily work and able to enjoy life.

In that formerly fatal disease, bacterial endocarditis (inflammation of the lining of the heart due to certain organisms), practically every case is saved and the patient cured or the condition arrested by the use of penicillin and the sulpha drugs.

As it is high blood pressure that causes heart stroke (coronary thrombosis), surgery is able to reduce pressure by cutting the nerves that tighten and tense the blood vessels. Surgery is also used in heart disease present at birth so that the lives of "blue babies" can be saved. Very few blue babies reached their teens heretofore.

Less dramatic, but equally successful, is the physician's treatment of heart and blood vessel diseases. "Failure of the heart can now be vigorously corrected in many cases by rest, diet, by cutting down on table salt and salty foods, by use of certain vitamins and by drugs.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Congressman Oren Harris, Arkansas Democrat, tried to laugh off a $200 dinner date with Pan American Airways' vice president, J. Carroll Cone, as reported in this column.

In 1950, Harris voted against Pan Am on the question of separating mail pay from government subsidies. But this year, Pan Am's representative paid the check for Harris and his wife at the $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. After that dinner, Harris reversed his vote on the mail pay question, and even took the initiative in the secrecy of the committee, of introducing the Pan Am substitute.

After these facts were brought to light by this column, Harris was kidded about it at a closed-door meeting of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

"At least the Democratic party got the money," was Harris's flippant reply.

While it is true that the Democrats got the $200 and the congressman got a free dinner—Pan American Airways stands to get $17,000,000 at the taxpayers' expense.

Stop Kefauver

Inside fact about the Harriman-Kefauver race in the District of Columbia was that President Truman had passed out word that he wanted to use this to stop Kefauver at any cost.

Mr. T., egged on by those around him, is still smarting over the way the lank Tennessean trounced him in the New Hampshire primary. And, to get even, the President passed the word down to the local Democratic machine, also delivered a ringing civil rights speech at Washington's leading Negro college, Howard University, at the height of the Kefauver-Harriman campaign. There were two results:

1. Immediate result was to put the Tennessee senator on the spot with Negro voters.

2. Long-term result will be to defeat home rule for the District of Columbia.

For the manner in which Negro voters repeated at the polls on behalf of Harriman strengthened the argument that the colored population would vote along racial lines if the franchise were given to the nation's capital.

For instance, election observers spotted a gray Pontiac convertible (license J-9757, a Cadillac (license 721), and at least three cabs (licenses 6911, H-8079, and H-6797), making the rounds of the polling places, picking up and dropping off the very same groups of Negroes.

Under the lax D. C. primary rules repeating was easy. All the repeaters had to do was sign a statement that they were Democrats. There was no double check on their names or whether they had voted elsewhere that day.

Note—Only 19,000 votes were cast in a city now approaching the population of a million.

Washington Pipeline

Frank Edwards, one of the most forthright radio reporters in the game, is going to have the rug pulled out from under him by three A. F. of L. unions. The Edwards program is unique in radio as the first ever to be sponsored by labor unions. However, Edwards has done too good a job. Remarked one labor leader: "If he had just muddled along, the Republicans wouldn't resent it. 'But how can the AFL get any cooperation from the Republicans if we are fighting them on the radio every night?"... Despite the opposition of big steel to the Wage Stabilization Board's package program, two small steel companies signed up with the union on the WSB terms and are making money. They are Henry Kaiser's Fontana plant at San Bernardino, Calif., and Portsmouth Steel at Portsmouth, Ohio, owned by Cyrus Eaton... Though Eaton and Kaiser hate each other, they both get along with labor.

Watching McCarran

Nevada's wily Senator Pat McCarran has quarterbacked many a fast one in the Senate, but none to match the sleeper he almost put across recently. He came within a whisker of slipping an amendment through the Senate, sight unseen, requiring the taxpayers to stand good the loss if any contractor lost money on a defense contract for the government.

McCarran's amendment also would have reached back to War 2 and permitted the reopening of several war contracts, even though already vetoed by the courts.

In brief, any of McCarran's contractor friends who lost money could simply turn their bills over to the government and the government had to make up the deficit.

However, alert Senator Francis Case, South Dakota Republican, smelled something fishy about the amendment and blocked it for 15 days for further study. McCarran, himself, never even appeared on the floor but got Senator Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, to carry the ball for him.

Eastland explained that the amendment was part of the war powers act and had to be passed immediately before the act expired. Then he asked for the Senate's immediate and unanimous approval, blandly assuring that there was nothing controversial in the measure.

But when Case started asking questions, Eastland explained: "I was instructed by the chairman of the committee (McCarran) to offer this."

He indicated he really didn't know much about the amendment.

Insisting on a 15-day delay, Case wrote Comptroller General Lindsay Warren:

"The net effect would be to require the government to pay for all net losses sustained by government contractors from the time hostilities ended in World War 2 up to the present and far into the foreseeable future."

Thanks to the watchfulness of the senator from South Dakota, the taxpayers will be saved many millions.

Mike and Ike

Tim McInerney, former troubleshooter in the Justice Department, was dining at Los Pinos, the White House of Mexico, with President Aleman. After dinner the talk got round to politics and the U. S. elections which interest Mexico almost as much as the people of the United States.

"Under certain conditions," said President Aleman, "I feel a kinship for General Eisenhower."

"Why it that?" queried McInerney.

"Well," said the President, whose first name is Miguel, "you know—Mike and Ike."

Remarkable Birthday Candle!

A candle, in the home of Mrs. Chas. Crutchfield, Hamilton, Montana, was first used on a birthday cake, April 26, 1894, and has been used on successive birthdays since that time. It is now being used for the third generation. Originally it was a 10-inch wax taper but now it is about 2 inches high. It is always lighted at each birthday but is extinguished as soon as the customary good wishes are made.

HST's Stand on T-H Law and Steel Workers Places Grounds for Impeachment Close

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 24—President Truman has come dangerously near the point where he can be impeached for a "high crime and misdemeanor," as the Constitution phrases the basis for the proceedings that can lead to the removal of a chief executive.

Mr. Truman has said that, although the Department of Justice may attempt to enforce the existing law on labor-management relations, as it has done before in the coal cases, he would not be surprised if the Steelworkers' Union failed to obey the injunctions which may be issued by the courts under that law.

This can be construed as encouraging the union to violate a court order.

Mr. Truman's trouble is that he doesn't understand the difference between the right of the individual to refrain from working and the right of a group of individuals by concerted action to persuade other individuals to refrain from working. There is no right of a union to order a strike or to maintain a strike when a court of the United States, acting under law, has ordered a union not to do so. That very point has been made by the Department of Justice under Mr. Truman's administration and has been upheld in the coal cases by the Supreme Court. Any instruction by any union officer or by two or more members—tacit or overt—to any individual worker to strike while an injunction is in force is a violation of law. It is a conspiracy.

A president of the United States by an abuse of his power could, of course, connive to prevent the Department of Justice from sincerely enforcing the law or prosecuting the case. As has happened before, the union could pull a sham strike by pretending that the men were sick, but the Department of Justice, under a president who was intent on faithfully enforcing the laws of the land—including those which provide for obedience to court orders—could penetrate that sham and present to the courts evidence to show that the so-called "sickness" was merely a concerted means of evading the law.

The most charitable interpretation of Mr. Truman's behavior is that he allows personal pride and pique to interfere with his judgment, and, when at a press conference he was needled into answering whether he thought a Taft-Hartley injunction would be obeyed by the Steelworkers' Union, he answered in the negative without weighing the serious implications of his chance remark.

Phil Murray, head of the Steelworkers' Union, has stated that the Taft-Hartley Act, "will not manufacture steel." He is within his rights in expressing an opinion as to the probable efficacy of the law in a broad sense, but, if he should say this while his union is actually under an injunction issued by the courts in accordance with the Taft-Hartley Act and imply that his men should not obey such an injunction, he could be charged with contempt of court and tried on that accusation.

Mr. Truman has shown all along his dislike for the Taft-Hartley Act, and in a recent press conference he came near saying that he would enforce only those laws of which he approved. It so happens that the Taft-Hartley Act was passed over his veto. But the Constitution of the United States, which requires a President "to take care that the laws be faithfully executed," doesn't say anything about enforcing only those laws of which a President may approve.

Mr. Truman has been within his rights in refusing to use the Taft-Hartley Act. That laws says a President "may" invoke the injunction process if, in his opinion, a threatened or actual strike or lock-out will "imperil the national health or safety." Congress has not "directed" the President to use that law. Ie merely has "requested" him to do so. One wonders why Congress doesn't make it mandatory for the President to use the Taft-Hartley Act, but, for reasons of its own, the Congress has not seen fit to do so and therefore is equally to blame for the loss of production in the current steel strike.

Granted that the Taft-Hartley Act postpones by 80 days a decision as what to do if the Steelworkers' Union and the steel-industry management have not agreed on a basis for settlement, the fact remains that, when the 80 days have been used for the purpose specified in the law, then and then only Congress will feel compelled to pass a law authorizing seizure of the industry for an indefinite period.

Mr. Truman and the Steelworkers' Union know that this is what is likely to be done, and that's why they vehemently oppose the first step, because it inevitably will lead to the second. It is not relevant as a matter of law for the President to say that the union has already waited more than 80 days beyond its contract expiration, and that hence waiting is futile. The law doesn't date the waiting period from any starting point as private parties may designate. It dates the wait from the day the President invokes the law itself, and that's really the next step, no matter how unpalatable it is for Mr. Truman to employ a statute of which he doesn't approve but which, so far as the constitution is concerned, is the law of the land.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I tell you, you simply cannot imagine the gall of the labor fakers of our State Department and their cohorts of the American union racket in the European countries where American fighting men won the war and the State Department and the Pentagon under the Roosevelt-Truman administration threw their victory all away.

Did it ever occur to any of us, to any American soldier fighting up Italy or any citizen-taxpayer here at home, that these conspirators in our capital were planning to sneak in a whole corps of professional unioneers to impose on Italy, France, Germany and Greece the same yellow-dog system that Roosevelt and John L. Lewis had created here under cover of Roosevelt's own panic which was called a "recession"? What had our unions done to win the war except run up the cost by billions through slow-downs on production, extravagrant wages, 5,000 strikes a year and outright extortion?

We knew nothing about it at the time, but small parties of key racketeers were slipped into France and Italy, behind the conquering American soldiers, always well to the rear of course and always under escort by political army officers, usually of the reserve. They went there to survey the opportunities, like stickups casing a joint. Then, when the shooting was over, ferocious anti-Communists like the pugnacious Irving Brown of the Garment Workers' Union, who got out of Paris lest some Communist hit him a poke in the snoot, rushed in to exploit the situation.

Ever since then, our own State Department, through our regular ambassadors and through its secret corps of privileged unioneers, has been representing to European peoples that the American people are all red-hot for unions. That Dave Dubinsky, of the Garment Workers, is a very popular American. That the Reuther brothers, who spent a couple of years in a Russian factory and wrote rapturous letters about the workers' paradise, are leaders of the American working people.

All this has cost the American taxpayers many millions but not one American in a million knew it was going on. On the whole it has been a flop. The European workers have paid little attention to them. Brown and George Meany, the secretary-treasurer of the AF of L, the master-racket of them all, have had to admit in recent months that they were making little progress against the indifference of the French and Italian workers. However, the American agents such as Brown and Harry Rutz, to name only a couple of the many who have latched onto easy jobs with tax-free salaries, 16-cent gasoline for their cars, tax-free American booze and cigarettes and lavish supplies of American groceries at discounts subsidized by the American taxpayers, have not been willing to give up easily. They may never again have it so good, as the trade-phrase of the carpet-bag occupation goes.

Would you like an example of the missionary work that you have been paying for in Europe? The following is quoted from the Rome Daily American, a subsidized propaganda sheet:

"Twenty-five male technicians from five European nations followed a chambermaid on her rounds from hotel room to room yesterday in the Rome seaside resort of Fregene for the avowed purpose of 'increasing productivity.' The occasion for the corridor-bedroom- and bath procession was the spring productivity conference sponsored by the United States' Mutual Security Agency, (successor to the Economic Cooperation Administration) currently in session here for a six-week period. Selected personneli from France, Germany, Austria and Denmark are being trained to go out into European industry and train others in increasing production.

"The chambermaid represented a problem in productivity and the 25 students observed her actions

'Not for Million,' He Said

West Palm Beach, Fla., June 24 (AP) — Countess Alexandria de Pulaski, the former Alexandra Stewart Plankinton, won a divorce yesterday from Count Maximilien de Pulaski on grounds of desertion. She testified he deserted her in Cannes, France, on Sept. 1, 1950. They were married in Jersey City, N. J., in 1948 and there were no children. She asked no alimony. Court records quote the countess, of Palm Beach and Locust Valley, L. Great Play Helped Hopeless Situation

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

It is always very gratifying to report a hand in which the theoretically correct play turns out well in practice. In the hand shown today, Charles H. Saunders, of New York, was faced with an almost hopeless situation.

There was only one chance to defeat the contract, so Mr. Sanders went for it and discovered that it pays to play good bridge.

Holding the West cards, Mr. Sanders opened the king of spades and continued the suit until South won the third round. South then led the queen of clubs. Mr. Sanders had to take this trick with his ace since South's opening bid of one no-trump made it perfectly clear that declarer had all of the missing high cards.

If South had K Q-x of clubs it would be impossible to shut out dummy's long suit. There was only one hope: that South had started the hand with only two clubs. If so ,the contract could be defeated by the right, but somewhat startling play.

Mr. Sanders therefore immediately led the king of hearts. This remarkable play defeated the contract. The clubs were dead, since declarer was in dummy for the last time. South could take the entire heart suit, if he wanted to take a finese, but even that would give him only eight tricks.

Note that South would make his contract if Mr. Sanders mistakenly cashed the fourth spade. On this trick South would be happy to discard the king of clubs.

Test Nears End

Ottawa, June 24 (AP) — A six-month test of the abilities of average soldiers and machines to work in the frozen northland is nearing a successful end. Exercise Eager Beaver, in which Canadian and United States soldiers last January began building two airstrips near the Alaska highway, has been termed a success, Canada's national defense headquarters announced today.

Gypsies have migrated to most parts of the earth.

To Take No Action

Manila, June 24 (AP)—The opposition Nacionalista party today decided to take no action on the Japanese peace treaty during the current special session of Congress. Since the Nacionalistas control the Senate, their decision forestalls any move toward ratification for the present. All treaties must be approved in the Upper House.

$12,300,000 being spent here

Recently construction was started on a $12,300,000 second unit at Danskammer Point Steam Station, a few miles north of Newburgh, N. Y.

Where does $12,300,000 come from . . . and where did all the other millions come from which Central Hudson has spent and will spend over the period 1946-1954 to expand gas and electric facilities in this community?

YOU provide the money!

You work . . . somewhere . . . and are paid money for your work. After supplying food, clothing and shelter for your family and providing for other necessary expense, you may have a little left. This is savings. This you either deposit in a bank, buy life insurance or invest in securities.

YOUR savings are pooled!

Bank deposits and life insurance are investments in Central Hudson . . . and in other companies up and down the land — the steel mills, the railroads, the mines and other enterprises. Through these agencies your savings are pooled with those of countless others and made available to whatever business is in need of money.

What's in it for YOU?

You work hard for your savings. Certainly you should be paid for their use. If you deposit money in a bank, you're paid interest; if you buy insurance, payment is reflected in the benefits you get; if you buy securities in a company, you're paid dividends or interest. This is as it should be — you worked for your money and it should work for you.

YOUR savings must earn money!

If your savings did not earn money you could not possibly be paid for their use. And without earnings there would be no savings invested in any business, no incentive to create or expand. You would cache your savings in a tin can in the cellar or bury them in the yard.

A healthy local utility is good for YOU!

Yes, savings must be attracted. That's why Central Hudson is now contemplating a reasonable increase to its common shareholders as payment for savings invested in the business. If the Company did not take such a step at this time when huge amounts of savings are so urgently needed for expansion purposes — to provide more and better service, more jobs, more of the better things of life — those savings might very well be attracted elsewhere. It's human nature for people and institutions with money to invest to place it to their best advantage. We must attract the new money we need. Else we would not serve anyone very long or very well!

The Japanese coast guard said 55 fishing boats with 234 persons aboard also were unaccounted for. Some may have been blown to sea.

The storm hit last night. It began blowing out to sea by midday.

Torrential rains raised the Nagaro river to flood stage. A thousand men are fighting breaks in its banks in an effort to prevent flooding around Nagoya and Gifu, 250 miles west of Tokyo.

National rural police reported 8,800 homes damaged by the wind and rain which in many places amounted to 10 per cent of the annual rainfall. Tokyo was hit by 50 mile winds and four inches of rain.

The executive secretary explained that this would place the shareholders of Home-Seekers' on the same basis with most of the other financial institutions in Kingston. He also stated that Home-Seekers' always intends to give its customers the best in financial service and this change is along this line. With this change dividends on savings shares and installment shares will be compounded quarterly, thus giving the shareholders additional income as well as convenience.

Education Board

tee prepare a minimum of standards in accordance with the state law, and submit it to the board.

The only recommendation which the Advisory Committee made in its report was that "his service is satisfactory in that he retains tenure under provision of the New York state tenure laws, and that he "has reached steps 13 and 16 according to his years of service."

It was pointed out that all teachers after three years of probationary service have tenure and that the recommendations of the Advisory Committee did not set up any "standard" to be met to gain the "promotional increments" but provides that all teachers be automatically granted the increase on years of service.

'Won't Accomplish Goal'

The Advisory Committee in its report maintained that "a promotional increment system with detailed or arbitrary standards" will not accomplish the desired goal to improve the quality of the teaching staff.

The 13th step in the salary schedule, the first in the promotional bracket, provides a salary of $4,600 for four years training or less and $4,800 for five years training. The 16th step, or maximum salary under the present salary schedule is $4,900 for four years training or less and $5,100 for five years training.

Charlotte McLean was granted two years leave of absence, beginning July 1, 1952.

The resignation of Sheffield Nasser was received. He has been special class teacher at the MJM School.

Trustee Baltz asked for more time for the Teachers' committee to study the proposition of "sick leave."

Contracts were awarded for the following items:

School Equipment, Inc., contract for apron storage in the Homemaking Department of the Vocational Building at a cost of $186.

School Equipment, Inc., seven tables at a cost of $301.

E. W. A. Rowles Company, three teachers' desks and chairs at a cost of $255.60.

West Disinfecting Company, 18,000 sanitary pads for $765.

B. D. Van Kleeck Company, dental supplies and equipment for the Washington school at a cost of $880.59.

Remuneration Granted

Albert G. Gruner, John J. Gilligan and William J. Hurley were each granted $400 as remuneration for after school athletic coaching assignments.

A report was received from the Ulster County Health Department on inspection of the cafeterias of the schools. They were found in good condition but it was recommended that additional refrigeration be provided for milk and it was suggested that the milk be retained under refrigeration until just before it was used, not placed on tables in the cafeterias too long before use.

Trustee Herzog for the Building committee reported that practically all details at the Washington School had been completed by the contractors. He also reported preliminary plans for the high school cafeteria had been approved and the board then approved final plans and specifications and bids for the work will close on July 1. Bids for equipment for the cafeteria will close on July 8.

Work in the field house at the high school is progressing and it is expected to be ready for use in the fall.

The building committee was authorized to solicit bids for concrete steps in front of the high school and to award the contract to the low bidder. The work will be done this summer.

A contract was awarded to Moon and Waterman to remove five trees at No. 4 school for the sum of $485.

A transfer of $2,983.89 from the capital outlay, furniture item in the 1951-52 budget, to the cafeteria fund was approved. This was done to meet bills of the cafeteria due June 20 when a balance of $324.60 existed and food bills amounting to $3,308.49 were due.

A resolution was approved authorizing the issuance of a tax anticipation note in the sum of $25,000 with interest not to exceed 5 per cent, to mature on August 10. This is required to meet expenditures pending collection of school taxes in August.

Auditorium Use Granted

Permission was granted the Kingston Kiwanis Club for use of the high school auditorium for their annual show November 24 and 25, with rehearsals on November 22 and 23.

A bronze bust of Samuel L. Clemens, (Mark Twain) was offered the board by Sam Mann. The statue is from the collection of the late Dr. Samuel Stern. The board accepted the offer with thanks to the donor.

A communication was received from the New York State Employes Retirement System notifying the board that Everett Scott would reach the retirement age on July 1, 1952. He is a janitor in the school system.

A report was received from Hubert Hoderath, director of Vocational Education, stating that there had been received and deposited the sum of $1,812.32 from Vocational school projects.

The board voted to appropriate the sum of $100 for two groups of teachers who attend the course of Dr. Prescott on Mental Health, sponsored by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association. This will be a part of the "in service training" of such teachers.

Watchman Commended In Hotel Fire Check

A mattress fire in a first floor room of the Kirkland Hotel early today was checked before it caused serious damage.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy commended the hotel's watchman, John Mino, for his prompt discovery and report of the fire, which, the chief said, apparently started from a cigarette.

Firemen were called at 5:05 a. m., with men and equipment from Wiltwyck and Central stations and Wicks Engine Company responding.

The fire, which spread smoke through the building, routed 32 persons, including guests and personnel, but the blaze was confined to the mattress and caused no serious threat to their safety.

Chief Murphy said the fire started in Room 9 occupied by Charles W. Kranitzky, who used an extinguisher to check the blaze before firemen arrived. Only slight water and smoke damage resulted, the chief said.

As Pegler Sees It

to see where improved technique and planning could increase her efficiency without increasing her effort or her time. By so doing they would increase her output and give the hotel guests better service.

"Donald B. MacPhail, an MSA expert, with engineering degrees from Dartmouth and the University of Chicago, explained the conference thusly: 'Increased productivity simply means using what you have to increase production by using what you have better.'

"The conference will send its graduates to European industries that have evidenced interest in the program. In each case, accord must be reached by management and labor that both will share in the profits of increased production and pass along a share to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

"The 25 students—all on two years loan from their respective plants—will not return to their original factories but will go from firm to firm spreading the gospel of modern industrial methods, with emphasis on the establishment of progressive labor-management relations.

"However, MacPhail said, resistance to the program is considerable with the hesitancy about equally divided between smug management and suspicious labor. Once these barriers are broken down, MSA expects thousands of plants to enter the program.

"The last stop for the field trip was Frigene's wood-working and cabinet shop. They approached with caution for fear of treading on the sensitive toes of the expected hardened straw-boss. The foreman turned out to be a slick-looking girl of some 21 summers with a white sweater, no less.

"Most of the day was spent there—watching wood-working."

Typhoon Kills 65 On Japanese Isles

Tokyo, June 24 (AP)—The edge of a typhoon hit Japan today and heaped death and destruction on portions of the four main islands.

At least 65 persons were killed and the toll was rising as reports came in over battered communication systems. The casualty toll included 27 injured and 58 missing.

The Japanese coast guard said 55 fishing boats with 234 persons aboard also were unaccounted for. Some may have been blown to sea.

The storm hit last night. It began blowing out to sea by midday.

Torrential rains raised the Nagaro river to flood stage. A thousand men are fighting breaks in its banks in an effort to prevent flooding around Nagoya and Gifu, 250 miles west of Tokyo.

National rural police reported 8,800 homes damaged by the wind and rain which in many places amounted to 10 per cent of the annual rainfall. Tokyo was hit by 50 mile winds and four inches of rain.

Big Collections Made

Berlin, June 24 (AP)—East German Communists said today they have made big collections of money and medicine for the Red forces in Korea within the past few weeks. The Soviet zone's news agency ADN reported 150 million units of penicillin had been donated by the city of Erfurt and 2,350,000 east marks (about $145,000) had been contributed by "peoples' owned" factories in Saxony.

The directors also voted to declare dividends quarterly beginning with the period starting July 1. The executive secretary explained that this would place the shareholders of Home-Seekers' on the same basis with most of the other financial institutions in Kingston. He also stated that Home-Seekers' always intends to give its customers the best in financial service and this change is along this line. With this change dividends on savings shares and installment shares will be compounded quarterly, thus giving the shareholders additional income as well as convenience.

tee prepare a minimum of standards in accordance with the state law, and submit it to the board.

The only recommendation which the Advisory Committee made in its report was that "his service is satisfactory in that he retains tenure under provision of the New York state tenure laws, and that he "has reached steps 13 and 16 according to his years of service."

It was pointed out that all teachers after three years of probationary service have tenure and that the recommendations of the Advisory Committee did not set up any "standard" to be met to gain the "promotional increments" but provides that all teachers be automatically granted the increase on years of service.

'Won't Accomplish Goal'

The Advisory Committee in its report maintained that "a promotional increment system with detailed or arbitrary standards" will not accomplish the desired goal to improve the quality of the teaching staff.

The 13th step in the salary schedule, the first in the promotional bracket, provides a salary of $4,600 for four years training or less and $4,800 for five years training. The 16th step, or maximum salary under the present salary schedule is $4,900 for four years training or less and $5,100 for five years training.

Charlotte McLean was granted two years leave of absence, beginning July 1, 1952.

The resignation of Sheffield Nasser was received. He has been special class teacher at the MJM School.

Trustee Baltz asked for more time for the Teachers' committee to study the proposition of "sick leave."

Contracts were awarded for the following items:

School Equipment, Inc., contract for apron storage in the Homemaking Department of the Vocational Building at a cost of $186.

School Equipment, Inc., seven tables at a cost of $301.

E. W. A. Rowles Company, three teachers' desks and chairs at a cost of $255.60.

West Disinfecting Company, 18,000 sanitary pads for $765.

B. D. Van Kleeck Company, dental supplies and equipment for the Washington school at a cost of $880.59.

Remuneration Granted

Albert G. Gruner, John J. Gilligan and William J. Hurley were each granted $400 as remuneration for after school athletic coaching assignments.

A report was received from the Ulster County Health Department on inspection of the cafeterias of the schools. They were found in good condition but it was recommended that additional refrigeration be provided for milk and it was suggested that the milk be retained under refrigeration until just before it was used, not placed on tables in the cafeterias too long before use.

Trustee Herzog for the Building committee reported that practically all details at the Washington School had been completed by the contractors. He also reported preliminary plans for the high school cafeteria had been approved and the board then approved final plans and specifications and bids for the work will close on July 1. Bids for equipment for the cafeteria will close on July 8.

Work in the field house at the high school is progressing and it is expected to be ready for use in the fall.

The building committee was authorized to solicit bids for concrete steps in front of the high school and to award the contract to the low bidder. The work will be done this summer.

A contract was awarded to Moon and Waterman to remove five trees at No. 4 school for the sum of $485.

A transfer of $2,983:89 from the capital outlay, furniture item in the 1951-52 budget, to the cafeteria fund was approved. This was done to meet bills of the cafeteria due June 20 when a balance of $324.60 existed and food bills amounting to $3,308.49 were due.

A resolution was approved authorizing the issuance of a tax anticipation note in the sum of $25,000 with interest not to exceed 5 per cent, to mature on August 10. This is required to meet expenditures pending collection of school taxes in August.

Auditorium Use Granted

Permission was granted the Kingston Kiwanis Club for use of the high school auditorium for their annual show November 24 and 25, with rehearsals on November 22 and 23.

A bronze bust of Samuel L. Clemens, (Mark Twain) was offered the board by Sam Mann. The statue is from the collection of the late Dr. Samuel Stern. The board accepted the offer with thanks to the donor.

A communication was received from the New York State Employes Retirement System notifying the board that Everett Scott would reach the retirement age on July 1, 1952. He is a janitor in the school system.

A report was received from Hubert Hoderath, director of Vocational Education, stating that there had been received and deposited the sum of $1,812.32 from Vocational school projects.

The board voted to appropriate the sum of $100 for two groups of teachers who attend the course of Dr. Prescott on Mental Health, sponsored by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association. This will be a part of the "in service training" of such teachers.

Marian Russell, feminine lead of this season's Broadway drama, One Bright Day, will play the role of Susie Sachs, which originally starred Ruth Gordon. The cast also includes Martin Ashe, seen on Broadway with James Mason in Bathsheba, and Phyllis Hill of the Pulitzer prize-winning The Shrike. Robert Baines, who played for three years in the Broadway hit, Mr. Roberts; Harry Mehaffey of The Gioconda Smile; and Donald Keyes of Our Town, also are featured.

Susie Sachs, a lovely but overly efficient "church mouse" secretary, discovers her womanly charms and sets her sights for banker Baron Thomas von Ullrich, her employer who regards her as a machine. The play is concerned with Susie's transformation into a baroness. Martin Ashe will play the dynamic Viennese banker and Phyllis Hill, will be Olly, his former, jealous secretary.

Staged by Robert H. Harris, managing director of the Playhouse, A Church Mouse also features Harry Mehaffey as the ageing, romantic Count von Talheim, Donald Keyes as the Baron's assistant—a human filing system, and Robert Baines as the Baron's handsome young brother.

There will be no performance Monday nights and no matinees.

"International" Crew

"We have an international crew here," said Robert Harris, new director of the Woodstock Playhouse, introducing the members of his technical staff, who arrived in the village last week. In a few days they will be visible at work on the new outside building platform at the rear of the Playhouse, putting the finishing strokes on the sets for the engaging Viennese comedy, A Church Mouse, which opens the 1952 season under new ownership and management, Friday, June 27.

Ordinarily the stage designer's rough sketches for settings are decipherable only to experienced technicians. But the small sketches of Viennese and Parisian settings, shyly presented for inspection by Margaret McDonough, Harris's Canadian-Irish designer, were jewel-like in both color and detail. It was fairly simple to imagine the now empty stage transformed into a rose-red, velours-draped drawing room in Vienna.

"No Changes Necessary"

"Don't show them to Mr. Harris," Miss Donough laughed, "he'll start making changes."

"No changes necessary," declared Harris peering over her shoulder. He handed them to John Hirata, Japanese technician, who was formerly associated with the Avant Garde theatre in Tokyo. As the pair set about converting the sketches into three dimensional reality, the gap of oceans closed between her native Toronto and his Japan. A graduate of the University of Toronto, and the drama school at Yale, Miss Donough spent two years with Hart House Theatre in Toronto, and worked in summer theatres at Niagara Falls and Bolton Landing, Lake George. During the past year she has been assistant designer to Peggy Clark, presenting advertising shows in various New York hotels.

Meanwhile Hirata was attending pre-med school during World War 2 in Tokyo. But college dramatics soon won his full attention.

Hirata completed his education in 1950-51 at Berea College, Kentucky, and the Columbia School of Dramatic Arts, New York.

Marasek at Switchboard

When the lights go up opening night, Czechoslovakian born Jan Marasek will be at the switchboard, serving as the company's electrician. Marasek is well-known to audiences having appeared at the Maverick Theatre during the summer of 1950, with the Loft Players, and since that time has spent his winters with the group at their Circle in the Square arena theatre. A former resident of nearby Eddyville, Marasek is, this summer, realizing an ambition of long standing—to work as he says "with a good company at the Woodstock Playhouse."

Although he records Pittsburgh as his birthplace, Cyril Simon, stage manager in charge of all production, spent sufficient time—most of it in theatres—last year in Sweden, Denmark and France, to be international in character also. After attending Carnegie Tech for two years, he went overseas with a USO show, Salute to Irving Berlin, a musical review which toured the Pacific Islands. Simon was associated with Harris at the Deertrees Theatre, Maine, was technical director for the Equity Library Theatre in New York, and associate producer of the television shows of the Cosmopolitan Theatre, Stop the Music, the Winchell-Mahony show and the Bill Goodman afternoon show.

From Canada, Japan, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Denmark, Woodstock will have its own United Nations contained backstage at the Playhouse this summer.

Great Expectations For '52 Library Fair

Woodstock, June 24—A new feature planned for the Library Fair, to be held Thursday, July 31, from 1 to 6 p. m., has been announced by Houston Richards, chairman.

Richards merely speaks of it as "great expectations" but has not divulged the nature of the attraction which, however, promises to live up to its title.

This, the 25th annual fair, will also have its traditional groups of tables of china, books, glass, jewelry, clothing, toys, aprons, a flea market, food and novelties, and artists supplies. For special entertainment there will be a magician, a merry-go-round and pony rides.

The annual library fair has become, during the past quarter century, one of the art colony's highlights of the summer season, with virtually the entire village contributing to at least one of its many features. Proceeds from the fair support, almost entirely, the growing village library which serves not only the year-round residents but the extensive summer population of artists, writers, musicians, college professors, and other professional people.

21 Are Graduated In Exercises at Woodstock School

Woodstock, June 24—Graduation exercises of the Bearsville, Woodstock and Zena elementary school districts were held in the flower-decked auditorium of the school Monday night. The 21 graduates were urged by John Henry Martin, principal of Kingston High School, who addressed the group, to carry on the tradition of courageous individuality, characteristic of the founding fathers and pioneers of this country. "This country," he said, "is an amazing and different place now, and since its beginning here on earth."

"It takes a tremendous amount of something to drive people from their homes, to leave behind their graveyards, and their churches—and that something is here," Martin continued. Observing that we are a product of the discontented people of Europe, he said they had to be willing to stand up and be different, leaving the familiar to face the unknown. "We have strained out the discontented—the disagreers — those who wouldn't take it lying down. They came and made America."

Should the choice ever be necessary between material possessions or independence, Martin said he would like to believe that this country would adhere to the principles that started the fire of the American Revolution. In conclusion he advised the graduates to endeavor in the years to come to choose the right friends, to seek those who believe in work, to learn to fight with the difficult and to work with the unpopular.

Mrs. W. E. Powers Named Chairman Of State Board

At the meeting of the New York State Legislative Board of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, held at the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany, June 17, to the 23, Mrs. William E. Powers, 192 Albany avenue, was elected state chairman for a term of four years.

Mrs. Powers, has been the state legislative representative for the past four years, and now as chairman succeeds Mrs. Helen Dorr, Buffalo, a member of the Grand Executive Board. Sixty delegates were present from the subordinate lodges in New York state representing a membership of 10,000 women in the state, the national membership is over 80,000.

This legislative board is maintained for the purpose of protecing the interest of its members in the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada. The board and its members cooperate with other railroad organizations on legislative matters with a view of also cooperating with other classes of labor along legislative lines regarded as mutually beneficial. The theme of this meeting was "We cannot afford to stand by—let us all do our part."

In accepting the office, Mrs. Powers said in part: "Legislation is most important to men and women. Without good laws we cannot have good working conditions, it is our duty to promote and protect those laws. Women who are wage earners, very often with a job outside of the home—and one in the home—have little time and energy left to carry on the fight for better working conditions. They need the help of other women and labor laws. Such laws are a safeguard not only to the men and women but also children. They give protection to the family and maintain a more satisfactory standard of living which help to make our country a better place in which to live.

"Laws are being made from year to year—for this reason we must be ever watchful that good laws remain on the statute books and protest against any law which would in any way be unfair."

Mrs. Powers urged the delegates to encourage their subordinate lodge members to carry on an active campaign to see that every eligible voter is registered and votes in this coming election.

New by-laws and several resolutions were adopted and extensive plans were outlined for the coming four years.

Other officers elected were vice president, Mrs. Earl D. Butts, Oneonta; secretary, Mrs. Harold Marvel, Buffalo; state legislative representative, Mrs. Mae C. Miller, New York; alternate, Mrs. Louise Bates, Corning; treasurer, Mrs. Sadie McKey, Columbus, O.

Mrs. W. E. Powers Named Chairman Of State Board

At the meeting of the New York State Legislative Board of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, held at the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany, June 17, to the 23, Mrs. William E. Powers, 192 Albany avenue, was elected state chairman for a term of four years.

Mrs. Powers, has been the state legislative representative for the past four years, and now as chairman succeeds Mrs. Helen Dorr, Buffalo, a member of the Grand Executive Board. Sixty delegates were present from the subordinate lodges in New York state representing a membership of 10,000 women in the state, the national membership is over 80,000.

This legislative board is maintained for the purpose of protecting the interest of its members in the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada. The board and its members cooperate with other railroad organizations on legislative matters with a view of also cooperating with other classes of labor along legislative lines regarded as mutually beneficial. The theme of this meeting was "We cannot afford to stand by—let us all do our part."

In accepting the office, Mrs. Powers said in part: "Legislation is most important to men and women. Without good laws we cannot have good working conditions, it is our duty to promote and protect those laws. Women who are wage earners, very often with a job outside of the home—and one in the home—have little time and energy left to carry on the fight for better working conditions. They need the help of other women and labor laws. Such laws are a safeguard not only to the men and women but also children. They give protection to the family and maintain a more satisfactory standard of living which help to make our country a better place in which to live.

"Laws are being made from year to year—for this reason we must be ever watchful that good laws remain on the statute books and protest against any law which would in any way be unfair."

Mrs. Powers urged the delegates to encourage their subordinate lodge members to carry on an active campaign to see that every eligible voter is registered and votes in this coming election.

New by-laws and several resolutions were adopted and extensive plans were outlined for the coming four years.

Other officers elected were vice president, Mrs. Earl D. Butts, Oneonta; secretary, Mrs. Harold Marvel, Buffalo; state legislative representative, Mrs. Mae C. Miller, New York; alternate, Mrs. Louise Bates, Corning; treasurer, Mrs. Sadie McKey, Columbus, O.

WHY NOT SET HER TO WORK?

A distressing situation is described in the following letter: "The cottage directly across the street from me was bought by a friend of mine about six months ago. She is a very nice person and I was delighted to hear that she was going to be my neighbor, but my delight has turned to annoyance. She has no children to keep her busy and, being a newcomer to this town, has no other friends, and as a result spends most of her time at my house. I do not like to be rude and can appreciate that she must be lonely, but it is very wearing to have some one constantly watching every move you make. Is there any way I can tactfully remedy this situation?

I think the thing for you to do is to launch her as successfully as you can in the group to which you yourself belong so that she will soon make other friends. In addition to this, you might induce her to take an interest in the Red Cross or other time-taking occupation. Failing any of these, my last suggestion is put her to useful work in your own house, such as looking after the children for you or helping with household chores.

Invitation to Engaged Pair

Dear Mrs. Post: When sending a wedding invitation to an engaged couple and only the man is known to the bride and groom, how is the invitation correctly addressed? Could the invitation be addressed to him alone with her name included on the inside envelope?

Answer: Separate invitations in their inside envelopes, one addressed to Miss Smith and the other to Mr. Jones and both enclosed in one outside envelope, addressed to him, will be best.

It Is Meant for Use

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to carry a gold mesh bag to dinner or the theatre in the evening, when not dressed in evening clothes?

Answer: Certainly. It may also be carried at any time of day when lunching out or paying visits or playing bridge, etc.

Yankees Blast Dodgers, 12 to 3, as Danny Steltz Fans 13 Batters

Ties League High Set Last Season By Tony Turck

Winners Capture 4th Victory of Schedule

Big Danny Steltz tied the all-time Little League strikeout record of 13 and struck three singles in his own behalf as the league-leading Yankees drubbed the Dodgers, 12 to 3, yesterday at the 156th FA diamond.

The Yankees scored in five of six turns at bat against two Dodgers pitchers to register their fourth victory in five starts.

Steltz checked the Dodgers with three scattered hits, two of them by George Uhl, and was in trouble only when he lapsed into streaks of wildness. He walked eight men. His 13 strikeouts equal the record by Tony Turck, star hurler of the 1951 Little League.

Big Inning Decides

As is their custom the Yankees came up with a big inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and move ahead 7-2 at the end of three innings. They added single markers in the fourth and fifth and finished with three against relief hurler Allen McCord in the sixth.

Big Steltz, who just blows his hard one by the batters when he has control, yielded two runs in the first inning and a single marker in the fifth. He has won three straight games.

Paul Klonowski's two bagger for the Yankees was the lone extra-base blow of the contest. Jerry McDonough contributed two singles to the winning attack. Bob Pratt accounted for the third Dodger single off Steltz.

The last place Giants will be seeking their first win of the season in today's battle with the third-place Red Sox.

Goshen—The sportingest harness horse race meeting along the Grand Circuit opens Monday at E. Roland Harriman's Historic Track, a picturesque half-mile oval located in the heart of this beautiful upstate village.

For five days the top names in the standard bred sport will be present to see most of the leading trotters and pacers race for more than $125,000 in purses.

The Historic meeting will offer two Hambletonian previews, the $15,000 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks on Monday, and the $10,000 Historic-Dickerson Cup on Wednesday, July 2.

Duke Washburn Sets Arlington Record

Duke Washburn set a new track record for the quarter mile clay oval at Arlington Speedway Saturday night with an average speed of 60.23 miles per hour.

In a special match race, Washburn won over Bud Hitzman and Doug Benjamin. Each had won a heat. Benjamin won the 50-lap "madcap" feature in which 22 crack drivers competed.

Rotary Nine to Hold Drill on Wednesday

All members of the Rotary baseball club of the Fraternal League are requested to attend the important practice session Wednesday at 6:15 p. m. at the municipal stadium.

Important details will be announced at the workout and all players are urged to be on hand.

Hamilton, Kroll Rule Favorites In PGA Playoffs

Louisville, June 24 (AP)—You can tab a big, cigar-chewing fellow named Bob Hamilton and a wiry little guy named Ted Kroll as two of the coolest customers on the 160-acre steam bath known as the Big Spring Golf Club.

Neither expected to reach the semifinals of the 34th PGA championship. Now that they've made it, they're enjoying their positions to the utmost.

Today Kroll clashes with swarthy little Jimmy Turnesa in one of the 36-hole semi-final matches. Hamilton, winner of the title in 1944, encounters chesty Chick Harbert in the other match.

So far as the public is concerned, it is a semifinal round without names. The last of the publicized stars of the pro circuit went out yesterday. Kroll walked up to the tee for the second hole of a "sudden death" playoff, lashed out a six iron shot over the heads of the still-moving spectators and laid it stiff for a birdie two. This eliminated Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the 1949 National Open champion.

But they're all tournament-tough players who earned their semi-final brackets in the only big match play tournament for pros. While Kroll and Middlecoff were battling it out in extra holes, Turnesa knocked out his sharp-shooting Westchester County, N. Y., neighbor, Clarence Doser, 2 and 1. Harbert rallied to beat lanky Fred Haas by the same margin and the beefy Hamilton, who plays little tournament golf nowadays, outlasted Frank Champ, the Houston, Tex., driving range operator for another 2 and 1 victory.

Attendance Boom At Harness Tracks

Columbus, O., June 24 (AP)—Attendance and wagering at the nation's harness tracks is up approximately one-third over the record-setting totals of 1951.

So said the United States Trotting Association today as it came up with a comparable dates survey.

The early-season check-up showed national attendance had jumped to 2,208,030 as compared with 1,657,188 for last year, and that the pari-mutuel total of $99,416,683 was far ahead of 1951's figure of $74,543,049. The figures carry through mid-June.

The survey was made at 14 tracks which were operating at the same time a year ago. Not included in the figures were totals for three tracks now holding extended meetings, but which did not operate last season.

Should the trend continue, the USTA said, all-time records of 7,210,082 attendance and $304,010,301 in wagering set last year are certain to fall.

SQUAREOFF BEFORE POSTPONED BATTLE

Joey Maxim, light heavyweight champion (left) and middleweight king Sugar Ray Robinson square off after weighing in for match for Maxim's title. Bout scheduled for June 23 at Yankee Stadium was postponed until June 25 because of rain and cold. The two champions will have to weigh in again on June 25.

Postponement Sends Odds on Robinson To 7-5 for New Date Wednesday Night

New York, June 24 (AP)—Fresh money poured in on Sugar Ray Robinson today and there were indications that the middleweight king may be favored as high as 8 to 5 when he goes swinging for light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim's crown in Yankee Stadium Wednesday night.

The so-called "smart" bettors laid it on the line in big batches of green yesterday after an all-day drizzle forced postponement of the battle of champions from last night to Wednesday.

When the undercover wagering closed down last night, the sleek, poised middleweight champion had jumped from even money to the role of favorite at 7 to 5.

The boys apparently believe Maxim will lose his edge in the two-day delay. The swarthy, 30-year-old Clevelander tipped the beam at 174¾ yesterday at the official weigh-in and he'll have to make 175 pounds or less again at 11:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow. Robinson scaled 160 and said he expected to hit close to that again at the Wednesday ceremony.

Maxim Calm

Joey appeared drawn at the weigh-in after drying out (abstained from liquids) overnight. He said:

"I won't have any trouble making the weight. I'll probably weigh even a little less. I can take that guy any day in the week."

Yet the general feeling was that the dark-haired, six-foot, one-inch champion had come out a loser in the setback. He had gone through a long training period and hit his target just about on the nose. Now he'll have to worry, and Joey is one of the game's greatest worriers, about keeping down his poundage and still maintain his sharpness.

Robinson was very pleased at his weight. He, too, feels Maxim lost by the postponement. Yet, Sugar said:

"I wish we had fought last night. I felt good, real good. Felt like fighting."

New Orleans—Bernard Docusen, 146, New Orleans, and Alfredo Lagrutta, 143, Italy, drew, (10).

Raichle Stayed Away from Big '6s' En Route to 36-Hole Lead; Ball in Tree Refuses to Come Down for Waterous

"Stay away from those sixes." That was "Dubby" Raichle's advice to himself as he prepped for the county amateur golf championships. He was the only player in the field of 45 who didn't have a single "6" in 36 holes of play. "Dubby" can whack the oversized aspirin for hefty distance but he chose to be conservative and cautious, despite Palenville's sprawling fairways. He opened the tournament by driving off with a spoon and used a brassie off Woodstock's No. 1 tee.

Threatening weather, rain and coolness reduced the spectator turnouts, but large crowds are expected for the final 36 holes. Jim Hutchins, Woodstock pro and Ray Smith of the Rip Van Winkle club, did a terrific job getting their courses in shape. Everyone was pleased. The Smith brothers put on a hot dog and hamburger roast after the matches and Woodstock's women members laid out a lavish buffet.

The Herdegen Memorial is the best $3 buy in golfdom. For that, the contestant gets 72 holes of free play, three free buffet luncheons and maybe a merchandise prize. Raichle leads by six strokes but supporters of George Hughes, Alvie Boice and Leon Randall haven't given up hope. Two nice comebacks and they couldn't happen to nicer guys—Bill Stifler of Woodstock and Warren Nesbitt—both of whom suffered in last year's inaugural. The Woodstock home crowd got a real lift from Stifler's performance and were pleased with Boyer Gonzales' showing.

Allen Waterous is a man of spectacular moments in the Herdegen Memorial. Last year he drove three balls out of bounds on the first tee at Twaalfskill. Saturday, he started with a birdie-3. on. the. first. hole. and eagled the 18th with a long 2-iron shot. In between he lofted a pitch shot into a pine tree and it refused to come down. Woodstock's new No. 1 tee, with the out-of-bounds line hard by the right, claimed four distinguished victims in Lou Bruhn, Dr. Douw Meyers, Roy Vogt and Dr. Rod Ball. You can throw out Watts Bailey's first-rounder "99" at Palenville. He was hobbling on a bad foot and should never have started. He wisely stayed out Sunday but was on hand to greet the field.

Such is the prowess of Dick Davenport with the long irons that he used a 2-iron off the No. 1 Woodstock tee and almost carried to the big tree to the left of the first green. What happened to Bill Van Aken at Palenville? Then he came back with a dream card on the back nine at Woodstock—4-3-4-3-4-4-4-4-4-34.There were some notable letdowns. Bill Waterous soared from 37 to 49; Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. 36 to 46. Jewels of consistency—Bob Boice 43-43; Joe Blackwell 44-44; Dick Overbagh 42-42; Walter Seaton 41-41; Ernie Schirmer 38-38 for a nice rebound from an 86. Gus Modjeska, the minute man, had three rounds of 44.

You can't keep a good man down. Frank McCahill got back into action as a substitute for Watts Bailey Sunday. Harry Hohnhorst, the oldest eligible in the county, begged off this season but promised to be on hand for the 1953 feature. Add nice second round performances: Bill Kaufman 36, Bill Van Aken 34, Boyer Gonzales 36, "Dubby" Raichle 34; Dr. Holcomb 36, Bill Stifler and Leon Randall, 35; Charlie Gaffney and Alvin Boice, 36. The spectators kept inquiring about George Hughes, who scorched Woodstock with a "66" last year but the Twaalfskill champion couldn't achieve that razor touch this time. He settled for a 154 that put him well in contention.

It was a fine start with great excitement. Even for Dr. George Rifenbary and Gus Modjeska who carded 10s. Little Jimmie Mellin got confused on Woodstock's third hole and didn't turn in a card. We hope he recovers in time to show up for Saturday's round.

Yankees Blast Dodgers, 12 to 3, as Danny Steltz Fans 13 Batters

Ties League High Set Last Season By Tony Turck

Winners Capture 4th Victory of Schedule

Big Danny Steltz tied the all-time Little League strikeout record of 13 and struck three singles in his own behalf as the league-leading Yankees drubbed the Dodgers, 12 to 3, yesterday at the 156th FA diamond.

The Yankees scored in five of six turns at bat against two Dodgers pitchers to register their fourth victory in five starts.

Steltz checked the Dodgers with three scattered hits, two of them by George Uhl, and was in trouble only when he lapsed into streaks of wildness. He walked eight men. His 13 strikeouts equal the record by Tony Turck, star hurler of the 1951 Little League.

Big Inning Decides

As is their custom the Yankees came up with a big inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and move ahead 7-2 at the end of three innings. They added single markers in the fourth and fifth and finished with three against relief hurler Allen McCord in the sixth.

Big Steltz, who just blows his hard one by the batters when he has control, yielded two runs in the first inning and a single marker in the fifth. He has won three straight games.

Paul Klonowski's two bagger for the Yankees was the lone extra-base blow of the contest. Jerry McDonough contributed two singles to the winning attack. Bob Pratt accounted for the third Dodger single off Steltz.

The last place Giants will be seeking their first win of the season in today's battle with the third-place Red Sox.

Raichle Stayed Away from Big '6s' En Route to 36-Hole Lead; Ball in Tree Refuses to Come Down for Waterous

"Stay away from those sixes." That was "Dubby" Raichle's advice to himself as he prepped for the county amateur golf championships. He was the only player in the field of 45 who didn't have a single "6" in 36 holes of play. "Dubby" can whack the oversized aspirin for hefty distance but he chose to be conservative and cautious, despite Palenville's sprawling fairways. He opened the tournament by driving off with a spoon and used a brassie off Woodstock's No. 1 tee.

Threatening weather, rain and coolness reduced the spectator turnouts, but large crowds are expected for the final 36 holes. Jim Hutchins, Woodstock pro and Ray Smith of the Rip Van Winkle club, did a terrific job getting their courses in shape. Everyone was pleased. The Smith brothers put on a hot dog and hamburger roast after the matches and Woodstock's women members laid out a lavish buffet.

The Herdegen Memorial is the best $3 buy in golfdom. For that, the contestant gets 72 holes of free play, three free buffet luncheons and maybe a merchandise prize. Raichle leads by six strokes but supporters of George Hughes, Alvie Boice and Leon Randall haven't given up hope. Two nice comebacks and they couldn't happen to nicer guys—Bill Stifler of Woodstock and Warren Nesbitt—both of whom suffered in last year's inaugural. The Woodstock home crowd got a real lift from Stifler's performance and were pleased with Boyer Gonzales' showing.

Allen Waterous is a man of spectacular moments in the Herdegen Memorial. Last year he drove three balls out of bounds on the first tee at Twaalfskill. Saturday, he started with a birdie-3. on. the. first. hole. and eagled the 18th with a long 2-iron shot. In between he lofted a pitch shot into a pine tree and it refused to come down. Woodstock's new No. 1 tee, with the out-of-bounds line hard by the right, claimed four distinguished victims in Lou Bruhn, Dr. Douw Meyers, Roy Vogt and Dr. Rod Ball. You can throw out Watts Bailey's first-rounder "99" at Palenville. He was hobbling on a bad foot and should never have started. He wisely stayed out Sunday but was on hand to greet the field.

Such is the prowess of Dick Davenport with the long irons that he used a 2-iron off the No. 1 Woodstock tee and almost carried to the big tree to the left of the first green. What happened to Bill Van Aken at Palenville? Then he came back with a dream card on the back nine at Woodstock—4-3-4-3-4-4-4-4-4-34. There were some notable letdowns. Bill Waterous soared from 37 to 49; Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. 36 to 46. Jewels of consistency—Bob Boice 43-43; Joe Blackwell 44-44; Dick Overbagh 42-42; Walter Seaton 41-41; Ernie Schirmer 38-38 for a nice rebound from an 86. Gus Modjeska, the minute man, had three rounds of 44.

You can't keep a good man down. Frank McCahill got back into action as a substitute for Watts Bailey Sunday. Harry Hohnhorst, the oldest eligible in the county, begged off this season but promised to be on hand for the 1953 feature. Add nice second round performances: Bill Kaufman 36, Bill Van Aken 34, Boyer Gonzales 36, "Dubby" Raichle 34; Dr. Holcomb 36, Bill Stifler and Leon Randall, 35; Charlie Gaffney and Alvin Boice, 36. The spectators kept inquiring about George Hughes, who scorched Woodstock with a "68" last year but the Twaalfskill champion couldn't achieve that razor touch this time. He settled for a 154 that put him well in contention.

It was a fine start with great excitement. Even for Dr. George Rifenbary and Gus Modjeska who carded 10s. Little Jimmie Mellin got confused on Woodstock's third hole and didn't turn in a card. We hope he recovers in time to show up for Saturday's round.

The SCORE Board

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who are going to win the rookie of the year awards this year? It's a wide open race with practically every club in both big leagues boasting at least one outstanding candidate.

Sammy White, Eddie Mathews and Bob Nieman, a trio of first year "phenoms" laid solid claim to this honor yesterday, coming through with noteworthy performances.

White, 23-year-old Boston catcher, banged out three hits and drew a walk in four times at bat to lead the Red Sox to a 12-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Sammy Struck his fifth homer of the season in the third inning and followed with a pair of singles in a big 11-run fourth to drive in four runs.

12 For Mathews

Mathews, the fuzz-faced third baseman of the Boston Braves, rapped his 12th homer of the year in the sixth to put his team on even terms with Pittsburgh and scored again as the Braves rallied with five runs in the eighth to down the Pirates, 9-3. The 20-year-old slugger ranks fourth in the National League in home runs. He has hit a four-bagger in every park except Brooklyn.

Nieman batted in three runs on three hits for the Browns but could not stave off a 17-hit hitting spree by the Yankees that gave New York a 14-10 slugfest win over St. Louis. In the day's only other action, Washington whipped the Chicago White Sox, 6-4.

Another freshman, Jimmy Brideweser, starting his first game for the Yankees, slapped three singles and drove in a pair of runs to play a prominent role in the victory. Brideweser played second only because Billy Martin had a pulled tendon in his right leg.

Ivan Delock, the young right-hander from Scranton, coasted to his fourth victory once the Red Sox broke through for their 11-run outburst against Ted Gray, Billy Hoeft and Hal White. Eight singles, a double, three walks and two Tiger errors produced the second biggest inning of the American League season. The league record is 14 for a single inning by one club.

Nine pitchers went to the well as the Yankees and Browns pounded out 33 hits and drew 10 bases on balls in the three hour and 22 minute game under the St. Louis lights. Joe Collins, who was almost traded away before the June 15 deadline, continued his bombardment with a pair of home runs and a double to drive in four Yankee runs.

Joe Ostrowski, second of three Yankee hurlers, was the winner. Earl Harrist, second of six Brownie flingers, suffered his sixth loss against two victories.

Shea Stops White Sox

The Senators stopped the White Sox rush as Frank Shea pitched and batted them to their 6-4 win. The veteran righthander singled in what proved to be the two winning runs and gained his fifth victory although he needed help from Joe Haynes in the seventh.

Rookie Ernie Johnson, pitching scoreless ball for the last five innings, received credit for the Braves' win over Pittsburgh as Boston overcame an early 3-0 deficit. Gus Bell's eighth homer in the first off starter Dave Cole with two mates aboard accounted for all Pittsburgh's runs.

Rain washed out the scheduled games between the Cards and Dodgers in Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Giants in New York and the Cubs and Phillies in Philadelphia. Cleveland and the Philadelphia Athletics were not scheduled.

Valuable Beavers

Beavers are so valuable in conservation work, that boxes of them were recently parachuted into conservation areas in Idaho.

There may be as many as 100,000 worker bees in a big hive.

RULED OUT OF ORGANIZED BASEBALL

Mrs. Eleanor Engle, with hand to chin and mouth wide open, looks aghast at an AP story at Harrisburg, Pa., that said she was ruled out of organized baseball after she had signed a contract with the Harrisburg Senators. Eleanor said "Trautman threw me a curve and I struck out." (AP Wirephoto)

New Mousetrap Idea

Marion, Ill. (AP)—The world is a step nearer that better mousetrap. Henry Hoffman, 79, a retired executive, started with a common trap and had a fishhook soldered onto the bait trigger. He explains the bait may be put on the hook barb so that the mouse that tries to slip it off gets hooked like a fish. "It's not an invention," Hoffman chuckles. "It's just an idea and I want everybody to know about it."

Question: What was the smallest bat ever used in the majors?

Answer: Wee Willie Keeler, the famed "hit 'em where they ain't" slugger, used a 31½-inch bat, smallest known to the majors. The average is 35 inches.

Q. What was the most air-tight defense ever seen in a World Series?

A. The one thrown up by the Yankees against the Giants in 1937. The Bronx Bombers went through five games without an error, still the record.

Q. How did the Pirates get their nickname?

A. When the club signed an infielder considered to be the property of another team in 1891, it was accused of being a bunch of "pirates."

Q. How many positions did George Sisler play?

A. Sisler is remembered as an all-time great first baseman. But he also saw service at second and third bases, in the outfield, and on the mound. His lifetime hurling record was 5-7.

Street Was River

Tokyo, June 24 (AP)—Taxi driver Tatsuo Ikegawa assured three nervous passengers he would get them home safely even though the fringe of a typhoon was lashing the Tokyo area last night, visibility was almost zero, but "through the rain I saw a nice broad street," Ikegawa explained today. "I was relieved and swung into it." The next moment the cab driver and his passengers were swimming for their lives. The nice broad street was the flooded Megruo river.

U. S. military operations in 1951 involved the flying of 68,000 personnel and 23,000 tons of material to the Far East.

The SCOREBoard

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who are going to win the rookie of the year awards this year? It's a wide open race with practically every club in both big leagues boasting at least one outstanding candidate.

Sammy White, Eddie Mathews and Bob Nieman, a trio of first year "phenoms" laid solid claim to this honor yesterday, coming through with noteworthy performances.

White, 23-year-old Boston catcher, banged out three hits and drew a walk in four times at bat to lead the Red Sox to a 12-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Sammy Struck his fifth homer of the season in the third inning and followed with a pair of singles in a big 11-run fourth to drive in four runs.

12 For Mathews

Mathews, the fuzz-faced third baseman of the Boston Braves, rapped his 12th homer of the year in the sixth to put his team on even terms with Pittsburgh and scored again as the Braves rallied with five runs in the eighth to down the Pirates, 9-3. The 20-year-old slugger ranks fourth in the National League in home runs. He has hit a four-bagger in every park except Brooklyn.

Nieman batted in three runs on three hits for the Browns but could not stave off a 17-hit hitting spree by the Yankees that gave New York a 14-10 slugfest win over St. Louis. In the day's only other action, Washington whipped the Chicago White Sox, 6-4.

Another freshman, Jimmy Brideweser, starting his first game for the Yankees, slapped three singles and drove in a pair of runs to play a prominent role in the victory. Brideweser played second only because Billy Martin had a pulled tendon in his right leg.

Ivan Delock, the young right-hander from Scranton, coasted to his fourth victory once the Red Sox broke through for their 11-run outburst against Ted Gray, Billy Hoeft and Hal White. Eight singles, a double, three walks and two Tiger errors produced the second biggest inning of the American League season. The league record is 14 for a single inning by one club.

Nine pitchers went to the well as the Yankees and Browns pounded out 33 hits and drew 10 bases on balls in the three hour and 22 minute game under the St. Louis lights. Joe Collins, who was almost traded away before the June 15 deadline, continued his bombardment with a pair of home runs and a double to drive in four Yankee runs.

Joe Ostrowski, second of three Yankee hurlers, was the winner. Earl Harrist, second of six Brownie flingers, suffered his sixth loss against two victories.

Shea Stops White Sox

The Senators stopped the White Sox rush as Frank Shea pitched and batted them to their 6-4 win. The veteran righthander singled in what proved to be the two winning runs and gained his fifth victory although he needed help from Joe Haynes in the seventh.

Rookie Ernie Johnson, pitching scoreless ball for the last five innings, received credit for the Braves' win over Pittsburgh as Boston overcame an early 3-0 deficit. Gus Bell's eighth homer in the first off starter Dave Cole with two mates aboard accounted for all Pittsburgh's runs.

Rain washed out the scheduled games between the Cards and Dodgers in Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Giants in New York and the Cubs and Phillies in Philadelphia. Cleveland and the Philadelphia Athletics were not scheduled.

Valuable Beavers

Beavers are so valuable in conservation work, that boxes of them were recently parachuted into conservation areas in Idaho.

There may be as many as 100,000 worker bees in a big hive.

RULED OUT OF ORGANIZED BASEBALL

Mrs. Eleanor Engle, with hand to chin and mouth wide open, looks aghast at an AP story at Harrisburg, Pa., that said she was ruled out of organized baseball after she had signed a contract with the Harrisburg Senators. Eleanor said "Trautman threw me a curve and I struck out." (AP Wirephoto)

New Mousetrap Idea

Marion, Ill. (AP)—The world is a step nearer that better mousetrap. Henry Hoffman, 79, a retired executive, started with a common trap and had a fishhook soldered onto the bait trigger. He explains the bait may be put on the hook barb so that the mouse that tries to slip it off gets hooked like a fish. "It's not an invention," Hoffman chuckles. "It's just an idea and I want everybody to know about it."

A. When the club signed an infielder considered to be the property of another team in 1891, it was accused of being a bunch of "pirates."

Q. How many positions did George Sisler play?

A. Sisler is remembered as an all-time great first baseman. But he also saw service at second and third bases, in the outfield, and on the mound. His lifetime hurling record was 5-7.

Street Was River

Tokyo, June 24 (AP)—Taxi driver Tatsuo Ikegawa assured three nervous passengers he would get them home safely even though the fringe of a typhoon was lashing the Tokyo area last night, visibility was almost zero, but "through the rain I saw a nice broad street," Ikegawa explained today. "I was relieved and swung into it." The next moment the cab driver and his passengers were swimming for their lives. The nice broad street was the flooded Megruo river.

U. S. military operations in 1951 involved the flying of 68,000 personnel and 23,000 tons of material to the Far East.

jets south of the Yalu Tuesday afternoon, the air force said.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported increasing patrol action along the 155-mile battle front Tuesday. One allied patrol battle for almost two hours with a Red unit west of Chrowon, the scene of bloody fighting during the past two weeks.

20 Reds Killed

About 20 Red troops were killed, the army said.

As allied experts studied gun film to evaluate destruction done by Monday's big raid on North Korean power plants, there were strong hints that more Red targets are marked for attack.

Military officials in Washington said Monday's raid on Communist generating stations, inaugurated a new "get tough" policy adopted as a result of Red stalling in the armistice negotiations.

One spokesman who asked not to be identified said "we now realize the best chance for breaking the deadlock at Panmunjom is to hit the enemy with all the force at our command."

A study of gun camera films from the 500 air force, marine and carrier-based navy planes which took part in the Korean war's biggest air attack showed the strike was virtually a 100 per cent success, the air force said.

Direct Hits Made

An official spokesman said direct hits were registered on all five targets, and the world's fourth largest hydro-electric plant at Surio was a "pile of junk." He described the 1,400 foot row of giant transformers and other equipment as a shambles.

The Suiro lies only a half mile south of Manchuria on the Yalu river. Other plants were smashed at the Changjin Reresvoir and on the Songchon river in eastern North Korea.

Not one Communist jet challenged the attacking allied planes, although allied pilots said more than 200 swept-wing MIG-15s were parked on a Manchurian air base within sight of Suiro.

No Pilots Lost

The air force said all of its planes returned safely. The navy said one carrier-based plane was shot down by anti-aircraft fire and four others were hit, but no pilots were lost.

No official at United Nations headquarters would say where the order to bomb the power stations originated. The plants have been spared since the war began two years ago and observers said the decision to smash them appeared to be more political than military.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, who formerly headed the UN armistice team at Munsan, said at San Diego that he had known for some time a major strike was planned unless an armistice was signed soon.

Japanese newspaper editors mostly took a grave view of the attack.

"The UN has played a trump card and perhaps risked an all-out war with Communist China," one editor said.

The big power development along the Yalu was built by the Japanese when they controlled both Korea and Manchuria. It was Asia's biggest hydro-electric project. About 60 per cent of the power was diverted to Manchuria. The rest went to the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and other cities.

So far there has been no direct reaction from the Communists.

Aside from this, the defense materials — particularly finished steel — remained locked inside strikebound warehouses and mills despite a government-industry plan to get it moving to aid the armed forces.

Steel companies said they have made no shipments of finished steel products.

One big producer announced it received orders from the government about what steel orders may be released. The company is polling its customers who had placed defense orders to see where the steel is needed.

750,000 Are Idle

The union refused to comment on reports that it demands full compliance with Wage Stabilization Board contract suggestions before permitting its men to work in steel plants during the strike. The WSB recommended a 26 cent hourly package pay raise and a union shop, both of which demands the steel firms have refused to meet.

Meanwhile, 650,000 basic steelworkers remain idle along with more than 100,000 made jobless in allied industries, and the total continues to grow.

Dakotas Continue Work

Singapore (AP) — A Malayan aviation official has just ended a five months' vain search in the United Kingdom to find a substitute for the Dakota plane—Malaya's most popular aircraft. Albert Savage, Malayan Director of Civil Aviation, said on returning to Singapore, there is no British-made aircraft as large and economical as tthe 21-seater Dakota (a U.S. plane).

Stalemate War Is

456 casualties, mostly South Koreans, but including 109,971 Americans. The Chinese and North Korean Reds killed, wounded or captured are reckoned at 1,623,404.

Where It Began

And now the conflict is almost where it began. Powerful land armies have remained more or less stable, for nearly a year, along a line stretching diagonally northeastward from a few miles south of Parallel 38 in West Korea.

Until only a few days ago, both sides seemed awaiting the outcome of the almost year old unproductive armistice talks at Panmunjom.

However, as the war's second anniversary drew near, allied tanks and infantry were putting pressure on the Chinese in Western Korea and North Korea's vital hydro-electric plants were smashed in a mass air strike.

A U. S. Defense Department official in Washington said the military action seemed to be "the best way of breaking the deadlock at Panmunjon. . . . "

9 U. S. Divisions Used

Besides the American-equipped South Korean army nine U. S. infantry divisions have been committed to the struggle as well as U. S. naval units and fighters and bombers of the Far East Air Forces. Also in the struggle against the Reds—either with troops, navy, or air forces—are Great Britain, Canada, Australia, France, New Zealand, Turkey, the Philippines, Greece, Ethiopia, Belgium, Colombia, Thailand, Union of South Africa and the Netherlands.

India, Denmark, Norway and Sweden contributed medical units afloat or ashore.

The allied troops, the bulk of them American, have slogged through the dark days of retreat down Heartbreak Highway, made a thrilling stand behind the thinly-manned Pusan perimeter in scutheast Korea and charged back up the peninsula to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria.

October Was Disastrous

There, in late October of 1950, Chinese Communist intervention sent the allied divisions reeling back on the brink of disastrous defeat only a week after victory seemed within grasp.

But the allies, regrouped and imbued with new spirit, fought back from south of Parallel 38, smashed two mammoth Chinese offensives in April and May of 1951 and were bristling with muscle when the Reds—through a Russian spokesman, Jacob Malik—hinted they would like to talk truce.

Many observers expressed belief the Reds agreed to talk, beginning July 10, 1951, only so they could build up their shattered armies.

That was only about a year after the beginning of one of the most dramatic struggles of modern warfare.

Agreement has been reached on 61 points, but the key issue—prisoner exchange—still blocks an armistice.

50 Workmen Protected

Helmstedt, Germany, June 24 (AP)—British army riflemen and West German frontier police protected 50 workmen today as they resumed dismantling of a coal mine railway in territory claimed by East Germany. Forty-three men were kidnaped from the railway by a Soviet-led East German patrol Sunday but released after a night's interrogation. British armored cars were held in reserve near the tense East-West border area eight miles south of Helmstdt. The armed guard, including 13 British soldiers, was nearly as large as today's work crew.

Lindy Matchbook

New York (AP)—One of the most valued matchbooks among collectors is the one issued 25 years ago this month when Charles Lindbergh was honored at a luncheon in the Hotel Astor following his epic non-stop flight from New York to Paris. Tom Torrent, who runs a Brooklyn hobby shop, says his faded copy is valued at $100—but he won't sell.

Silver Sterlings

Under the Saxon kinds, the British minted coins called sterlings from silver, 240 to the pound. Large quantities of the coins were reckoned as pounds of sterlings; later, pounds sterling, present name of the British monetary unit.

sible or they are taking an unjustified gamble with peace."

Desperate Plight

At another point, Eisenhower said if the Communist expansion should cut off America's sources of raw materials then the United States and her allies would be in a desperate plight. He added:

"This bleak scene would be our lot if we heed the false prophets of living alone—who preach that we need do nothing except maintain a destructive retaliatory force in the event the Russian armies should march. . . . This would be the result of a retreat by us into isolationism."

Eisenhower's speech came after it became known that his advisers admit they had made a mistake in not giving the general free rein to run his own show from the very start of his campaign.

"Ike has taken over in his own way," one advisor said, "and he's making the decisions."

Driscoll Calls Meeting

Trenton, N. J., June 24 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll has called a meeting of New Jersey's 38 delegates to the Republican National Convention. Driscoll asked the delegates and their alternates to dinner Thursday night at the Hotel Stacy Trent. The governor, chairman of the delegation, said he would tell the delegates he and John Dickerson, chairman of the GOP state committee, as opposed to the unit rule.

Two Cars Sold to Will

It is charged that the cars were driven to New York state and two of them were sold to Will, who is charged, in turn with having sold one, the Buick, to Jacob Mitchell of Poughkeepsie.

The arrest of Will, Scheidt said, was made through cooperation of County Investigator Arthur Brown of the sheriff's office and the recovery of the Buick was made with the assistance of Poughkeepsie police.

Will was scheduled to be arraigned today before a U. S. Commissioner in New York. The FBI charges that he knew the car he sold was stolen property.

Roller Overturns

A 10-ton, city-owned power roller went over a bank and rolled over on one side when something went wrong while it was being used yesterday afternoon in the repair of Ulster street. It was being operated by Elwood Finkle, who reported no injuries. Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent said the exact cause of the trouble had not been determined, but it was expected that the roller would be hauled back on the street this afternoon.

jets south of the Yalu Tuesday afternoon, the air force said.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported increasing patrol action along the 155-mile battle front Tuesday. One allied patrol battle for almost two hours with a Red unit west of Chrowon, the scene of bloody fighting during the past two weeks.

20 Reds Killed

About 20 Red troops were killed, the army said.

As allied experts studied gun film to evaluate destruction done by Monday's big raid on North Korean power plants, there were strong hints that more Red targets are marked for attack.

Military officials in Washington said Monday's raid on Communist generating stations, inaugurated a new "get tough" policy adopted as a result of Red stalling in the armistice negotiations.

One spokesman who asked not to be identified said "we now realize the best chance for breaking the deadlock at Panmunjom is to hit the enemy with all the force at our command."

A study of gun camera films from the 500 air force, marine and carrier-based navy planes which took part in the Korean war's biggest air attack showed the strike was virtually a 100 per cent success, the air force said.

Direct Hits Made

An official spokesman said direct hits were registered on all five targets, and the world's fourth largest hydro-electric plant at Surio was a "pile of junk." He described the 1,400 foot row of giant transformers and other equipment as a shambles.

The Suiro lies only a half mile south of Manchuria on the Yalu river. Other plants were smashed at the Changjin Reresvoir and on the Songchon river in eastern North Korea.

Not one Communist jet challenged the attacking allied planes, although allied pilots said more than 200 swept-wing MIG-15s were parked on a Manchurian air base within sight of Suiro.

No Pilots Lost

The air force said all of its planes returned safely. The navy said one carrier-based plane was shot down by anti-aircraft fire and four others were hit, but no pilots were lost.

No official at United Nations headquarters would say where the order to bomb the power stations originated. The plants have been spared since the war began two years ago and observers said the decision to smash them appeared to be more political than military.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, who formerly headed the UN armistice team at Munsan, said at San Diego that he had known for some time a major strike was planned unless an armistice was signed soon.

Japanese newspaper editors mostly took a grave view of the attack.

"The UN has played a trump card and perhaps risked an all-out war with Communist China," one editor said.

The big power development along the Yalu was built by the Japanese when they controlled both Korea and Manchuria. It was Asia's biggest hydro-electric project. About 60 per cent of the power was diverted to Manchuria. The rest went to the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and other cities.

So far there has been no direct reaction from the Communists.

Aside from this, the defense materials — particularly finished steel — remained locked inside strikebound warehouses and mills despite a government - industry plan to get it moving to aid the armed forces.

Steel companies said they have made no shipments of finished steel products.

One big producer announced it received orders from the government about what steel orders may be released. The company is polling its customers who had placed defense orders to see where the steel is needed.

750,000 Are Idle

The union refused to comment on reports that it demands full compliance with Wage Stabilization Board contract suggestions before permitting its men to work in steel plants during the strike. The WSB recommended a 26 cent hourly package pay raise and a union shop, both of which demands the steel firms have refused to meet.

Meanwhile, 650,000 basic steelworkers remain idle along with more than 100,000 made jobless in allied industries, and the total continues to grow.

Dakotas Continue Work

Singapore (AP) — A Malayan aviation official has just ended a five months' vain search in the United Kingdom to find a substitute for the Dakota plane—Malaya's most popular aircraft. Albert Savage, Malayan Director of Civil Aviation, said on returning to Singapore, there is no British-made aircraft as large and economical as tthe 21-seater Dakota (a U.S. plane).

Stalemate War Is

456 casualties, mostly South Koreans, but including 109,971 Americans. The Chinese and North Korean Reds killed, wounded or captured are reckoned at 1,623,404.

Where It Began

And now the conflict is almost where it began. Powerful land armies have remained more or less stable, for nearly a year, along a line stretching diagonally northeastward from a few miles south of Parallel 38 in West Korea.

Until only a few days ago, both sides seemed awaiting the outcome of the almost year old unproductive armistice talks at Panmunjom.

However, as the war's second anniversary drew near, allied tanks and infantry were putting pressure on the Chinese in Western Korea and North Korea's vital hydro-electric plants were smashed in a mass air strike.

A U. S. Defense Department official in Washington said the military action seemed to be "the best way of breaking the deadlock at Panmunjon. . . . "

9 U. S. Divisions Used

Besides the American-equipped South Korean army nine U. S. infantry divisions have been committed to the struggle as well as U. S. naval units and fighters and bombers of the Far East Air Forces. Also in the struggle against the Reds—either with troops, navy, or air forces—are Great Britain, Canada, Australia, France, New Zealand, Turkey, the Philippines, Greece, Ethiopia, Belgium, Colombia, Thailand, Union of South Africa and the Netherlands.

India, Denmark, Norway and Sweden contributed medical units afloat or ashore.

The allied troops, the bulk of them American, have slogged through the dark days of retreat down Heartbreak Highway, made a thrilling stand behind the thinly-manned Pusan perimeter in scutheast Korea and charged back up the peninsula to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria.

October Was Disastrous

There, in late October of 1950, Chinese Communist intervention sent the allied divisions reeling back on the brink of disastrous defeat only a week after victory seemed within grasp.

But the allies, regrouped and imbued with new spirit, fought back from south of Parallel 38, smashed two mammoth Chinese offensives in April and May of 1951 and were bristling with muscle when the Reds—through a Russian spokesman, Jacob Malik—hinted they would like to talk truce.

Many observers expressed beliet the Reds agreed to talk, beginning July 10, 1951, only so they could build up their shattered armies.

That was only about a year after the beginning of one of the most dramatic struggles of modern warfare.

Agreement has been reached on 61 points, but the key issue—prisoner exchange—still blocks an armistice.

50 Workmen Protected

Helmstedt, Germany, June 24 (AP)—British army riflemen and West German frontier police protected 50 workmen today as they resumed dismantling of a coal mine railway in territory claimed by East Germany. Forty-three men were kidnaped from the railway by a Soviet-led East German patrol Sunday but released after a night's interrogation. British armored cars were held in reserve near the tense East-West border area eight miles south of Helmstdt. The armed guard, including 13 British soldiers, was nearly as large as today's work crew.

Lindy Matchbook

New York (AP)—One of the most valued matchbooks among collectors is the one issued 25 years ago this month when Charles Lindbergh was honored at a luncheon in the Hotel Astor following his epic non-stop flight from New York to Paris. Tom Torrent, who runs a Brooklyn hobby shop, says his faded copy is valued at $100—but he won't sell.

Silver Sterlings

Under the Saxon kinds, the British minted coins called sterlings from silver, 240 to the pound. Large quantities of the coins were reckoned as pounds of sterlings; later, pounds sterling, present name of the British monetary unit.

Eisenhower Hopes

sible or they are taking an unjustified gamble with peace."

Desperate Plight

At another point, Eisenhower said if the Communist expansion should cut off America's sources of raw materials then the United States and her allies would be in a desperate plight. He added:

"Tnis bleak scene would be our lot if we heed the false prophets of living alone—who preach that we need do nothing except maintain a destructive retaliatory force in the event the Russian armies should march. . . . This would be the result of a retreat by us into isolationism."

Eisenhower's speech came after it became known that his advisers admit they had made a mistake in not giving the general free rein to run his own show from the very start of his campaign.

"Ike has taken over in his own way," one advisor said, "and he's making the decisions."

Two Cars Sold to Will

It is charged that the cars were driven to New York state and two of them were sold to Will, who is charged, in turn with having sold one, the Buick, to Jacob Mitchell of Poughkeepsie.

The arrest of Will, Scheidt said, was made through cooperation of County Investigator Arthur Brown of the sheriff's office and the recovery of the Buick was made with the assistance of Poughkeepsie police.

Will was scheduled to be arraigned today before a U. S. Commissioner in New York. The FBI charges that he knew the car he sold was stolen property.

Roller Overturns

A 10-ton, city-owned power roller went over a bank and rolled over on one side when something went wrong while it was being used yesterday afternoon in the repair of Ulster street. It was being operated by Elwood Finkle, who reported no injuries. Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent said the exact cause of the trouble had not been determined, but it was expected that the roller would be hauled back on the street this afternoon.

The Weather

TUESDAY, JUNE 24, 1952

Sun rises at 4:07 a. m.; sun sets at 7:26 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather, clear.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 62 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 80 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Mostly cloudy and foggy with some drizzle early this morning, becoming partly cloudy and warmer this afternoon. Highest temperature in the 70's. Some fog and cloudiness likely tonight and early Wednesday morning, becoming fair and warm except for chance of scattered thundershowers late in the day. Lowest temperature tonight in the 60's. Highest temperature Wednesday in the 80's.

Eastern New York—Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers and thunderstorms tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight in middle or upper 60's. Warm in south portion and not quite so warm in north portion Wednesday.

The city engineer's weather records today showed a temperature of 79 degrees at 10 a. m., a barometric pressure of 29.82 inches, a humidity of 92 per cent and an east wind with a velocity of about five miles an hour. The high temperature yesterday was 79 at noon and the low 59 at 4 p. m. The mean temperature was 69 and the normal is 72. The humidity was 99 at 11 p. m., and 78 at 10 a. m. The barometric pressure was 30.02 at 9 a. m., and 29.98 at 11 p. m. There was a trace of rain and a variable wind with a velocity of five miles an hour.

Teenagers in Custody

Timothy Driscoll, 17, of South Boston, Mass., and his 19-year-old companion, Rosalee Fraser of Somerville, Mass., sit in Freehold, N. J., police headquarters after surrendering to authorities. They told police they were given a ride June 22 by the Rev. Theodore Steiger, a Unitarian minister, near Laconia, N. H. As they neared Manchester, N. H., they said, they ordered the minister from the car and took $5 from him. They drove until a bearing in the vehicle burned out, slept in the auto and gave themselves up June 23.

Police Board Has Same Explanation

The Board of Police Commissioners' explanation of its discontinuance of the police captaincy at a special meeting last night with a Common Council committee was virtually the same as that of the local civil service board, it was learned today.

A civil service report at a recent council meeting revealed that the police board, under provisions of the city charter, is empowered to discontinue rank and regulate manpower.

Last night's meeting was held as requested in a council resolution asking both the police board and The Municipal Civil Service Commission to explain why the position of police captain was abolished after an examination had been called, and also to explain why the department now has only one instead of two detectives.

The civil service report revealed that detective appointments are direct promotions made by the police chief and do not require civil service examination.

Recent civil service examinations opened the way for promotions on the department from sergeants upward to the captaincy and would have meant the appointment of another patrolman.

Aldermen Edwin Radel (D) third ward; Samuel Perry, (R) fifth ward, and Joseph Wenzel, (R) fourth ward, composed the special council committee, which met with the board last night and will report to the council at its July 1 meeting.

Compromise Might Come

Pusan, Korea, June 24 (AP)—A compromise solution to South Korea's bitter political feud appeared to be shaping up today. Prime minister Chang Paik Sang was reported to have won support for a compromise plan from middle of the road assemblymen and opponents of President Syngman Rhee. Details were not divulged.

New Paltz Girl Identifies Trousers

Trenton, N. J., June 24 (AP)—A girl friend of Pvt. Robert L. Williams, on trial for the murder of a Fort Dix sergeant, has identified a pair of brown trousers figuring in the case.

Miss Mildred Abramson, 17, of New Paltz, N. Y., said yesterday she saw the pants in question on her boy friend some time before the day Sgt. Herman Weiner of Philadelphia was found dead. The government contends the trousers belonged to Weiner; Williams has said they are his.

Williams, also of New Paltz, was cross-examined on his role in the case during most of the day. He said the brown trousers were given him by a corporal who went overseas.

Earlier, Williams was questioned about his testimony alleging that a car found in his possession had been loaned to him by a Sergeant Hammond. The government contends the car was the slain sergeant's property.

Williams was found with the car in New Paltz Feb. 5, two days after Weiner allegedly was beaten to death in his Fort Dix barracks.

Fireflies

It is believed that fireflies do not eat in the adult, winged form, living on energy stored when they were worms living in the ground.

Medical Director Gives His Report on School Physicals

Of the 6,140 pupils registered in the city public and parochial schools, a total of 6,901 have been examined by the medical department of the public school system during the year, Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum, school medical director, reports to the board of education in his final report of the school year.

In his report of the activities of the Health Department of the schools, Dr. Nussbaum reported to the board of education, that 76 per cent of the defects found among pupils have been corrected.

In addition to the 6,091 regular examinations held there was an additional 323 special examinations in the athletic department.

Report on Defects

The report states that the number of children entirely negative was 1,216 and there were 2,173 children with minor non-reportable defects. The number of children with reportable defects was 2,702 and the number of defects found was 3,432. Of these reportable defects 2,607 were corrected. Notes mailed to parents numbered 2,919 and there were 1,373 home calls made.

During the school year there were 5.533 conferences with pupils, 2,963 with teachers, 922 with parents and 495 other conferences held by the medical department. A total of 15,126 inspections were made and first aid was rendered in 5,129 cases.

There were 1,023 children excluded from school for various reasons during the year.

Working permits were issued in 563 cases and there was an additional 133 limited permits granted. None was refused.

There were 383 pre-kindergarten examinations made by the health department of the schools.

Dr. Nussbaum also submitted a report on the dental work in the schools where 497 examinations were held with 1,394 routine settings.

Dr. Russ Resigns

Dr. Wilbur Russ plans to move his office to western New York, and has resigned from school work here.

In a summary of the medical program for the year Dr. Nussbaum states:

"A breakdown of our defects show: That of 2577 students who have defective teeth, 1629 have already had these defects corrected. We fondly hope the remainder will do something about this during the summer. 352 visual defects were found with 295 new corrections. 286 showed some defect of nutrition. 275 of these have been helped by school lunches and some by supplemental vitamins supplied by the Masonic Square Club. 133 showed severe postural defects. Our program for the correction of these will be enlarged with the building of the new gym. 204 present tonsil defects. Many of these have been corrected with the help of the Square Club who paid for the hospitalization and by the kindness of physicians who contributed their services.

"Our greatest need is for still more corrective medicine for pupils from economic borderline families by inviting social service organizations to underwrite tonsillectomies, provide glasses, furnish funds for supplemental vitamins in nutritional defects, etc. We have received considerable aid from the State Rehabilitation Program for artificial dentures and orthodontia. We have been offered help in the correction of serious speech defects by the Spastic Clinic. The Heart Association through its Heart Clinic has helped the family physician evaluate the cardiac status of many of our pupils.

Girls Favor Betting

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 24 (AP)—High school girls attending the annual "Girl's State" in this upstate horse racing center favor legalizing off-track betting. "Boys' State," sponsored by the state Legion, is being held at Colgate University in Hamilton.

Teenagers in Custody

Timothy Driscoll, 17, of South Boston, Mass., and his 19-year-old companion, Rosalee Fraser of Somerville, Mass., sit in Freehold, N. J., police headquarters after surrendering to authorities. They told police they were given a ride June 22 by the Rev. Theodore Steiger, a Unitarian minister, near Laconia, N. H. As they neared Manchester, N. H., they said, they ordered the minister from the car and took $5 from him. They drove until a bearing in the vehicle burned out, slept in the auto and gave themselves up June 23.

Police Board Has Same Explanation

The Board of Police Commissioners' explanation of its discontinuance of the police captaincy at a special meeting last night with a Common Council committee was virtually the same as that of the local civil service board, it was learned today.

A civil service report at a recent council meeting revealed that the police board, under provisions of the city charter, is empowered to discontinue rank and regulate manpower.

Last night's meeting was held as requested in a council resolution asking both the police board and The Municipal Civil Service Commission to explain why the position of police captain was abolished after an examination had been called, and also to explain why the department now has only one instead of two detectives.

The civil service report revealed that detective appointments are direct promotions made by the police chief and do not require civil service examination.

Recent civil service examinations opened the way for promotions on the department from sergeants upward to the captaincy and would have meant the appointment of another patrolman.

Aldermen Edwin Radel (D) third ward; Samuel Perry, (R) fifth ward, and Joseph Wenzel, (R) fourth ward, composed the special council committee, which met with the board last night and will report to the council at its July 1 meeting.

Compromise Might Come

Pusan, Korea, June 24 (AP)—A compromise solution to South Korea's bitter political feud appeared to be shaping up today. Prime minister Chang Paik Sang was reported to have won support for a compromise plan from middle of the road assemblymen and opponents of President Syngman Rhee. Details were not divulged.

New Paltz Girl Identifies Trousers

Trenton, N. J., June 24 (AP)—A girl friend of Pvt. Robert L. Williams, on trial for the murder of a Fort Dix sergeant, has identified a pair of brown trousers figuring in the case.

Miss Mildred Abramson, 17, of New Paltz, N. Y., said yesterday she saw the pants in question on her boy friend some time before the day Sgt. Herman Weiner of Philadelphia was found dead. The government contends the trousers belonged to Weiner; Williams has said they are his.

Williams, also of New Paltz, was cross-examined on his role in the case during most of the day. He said the brown trousers were given him by a corporal who went overseas.

Earlier, Williams was questioned about his testimony alleging that a car found in his possession had been loaned to him by a Sergeant Hammond. The government contends the car was the slain sergeant's property.

Williams was found with the car in New Paltz Feb. 5, two days after Weiner allegedly was beaten to death in his Fort Dix barracks.

Fireflies

It is believed that fireflies do not eat in the adult, winged form, living on energy stored when they were worms living in the ground.

Medical Director Gives His Report on School Physicals

Of the 6,140 pupils registered in the city public and parochial schools, a total of 6,901 have been examined by the medical department of the public school system during the year, Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum, school medical director, reports to the board of education in his final report of the school year.

In his report of the activities of the Health Department of the schools, Dr. Nussbaum reported to the board of education, that 76 per cent of the defects found among pupils have been corrected.

In addition to the 6,091 regular examinations held there was an additional 323 special examinations in the athletic department.

Report on Defects

The report states that the number of children entirely negative was 1,216 and there were 2,173 children with minor non-reportable defects. The number of children with reportable defects was 2,702 and the number of defects found was 3,432. Of these reportable defects 2,607 were corrected. Notes mailed to parents numbered 2,919 and there were 1,373 home calls made.

During the school year there were 5,533 conferences with pupils, 2,963 with teachers, 922 with parents and 495 other conferences held by the medical department. A total of 15,126 inspections were made and first aid was rendered in 5,129 cases.

There were 1,023 children excluded from school for various reasons during the year.

Working permits were issued in 563 cases and there was an additional 133 limited permits granted. None was refused.

There were 383 pre-kindergarten examinations made by the health department of the schools.

Dr. Nussbaum also submitted a report on the dental work in the schools where 497 examinations were held with 1,394 routine settings.

Dr. Russ Resigns

Dr. Wilbur Russ plans to move his office to western New York, and has resigned from school work here.

In a summary of the medical program for the year Dr. Nussbaum states:

"A breakdown of our defects show: That of 2577 students who have defective teeth, 1629 have already had these defects corrected. We fondly hope the remainder will do something about this during the summer. 352 visual defects were found with 295 new corrections. 286 showed some defect of nutrition. 275 of these have been helped by school lunches and some by supplemental vitamins supplied by the Masonic Square Club. 133 showed severe postural defects. Our program for the correction of these will be enlarged with the building of the new gym. 204 present tonsil defects. Many of these have been corrected with the help of the Square Club who paid for the hospitalization and by the kindness of physicians who contributed their services.

"Our greatest need is for still more corrective medicine for pupils from economic borderline families by inviting social service organizations to underwrite tonsillectomies, provide glasses, furnish funds for supplemental vitamins in nutritional defects, etc. We have received considerable aid from the State Rehabilitation Program for artificial dentures and orthodontia. We have been offered help in the correction of serious speech defects by the Spastic Clinic. The Heart Association through its Heart Clinic has helped the family physician evaluate the cardiac status of many of our pupils.

"We have continued to receive help from The State Mental Hygiene Department and a series of mental health lectures have been offered to all school personnel by the mental health committee. Attendance at future lectures on mental health should be urged. An alerted teacher can be invaluable in detecting early mental changes and a kind and understanding teacher can do a great deal for the shy, backward, unstable, insecure child."
